Omaha Tech High Faces Creighton Prep In Class A

By DON BRYANT
Star Sports Editor

Four brand spanking new basketball champions will be crowned at the University of Nebraska Coliseum today — and all of them have been waiting quite a while to celebrate a title.

That was assured Friday as finalists in all classes were decided in the 53rd annual Nebraska State High School Basketball Tournament.

As the throngs of fans — there were 10,000 at the NU Coliseum Friday night, for example — filed home, here's the way the Saturday program shapes up:

Class A — Omaha Tech vs. Creighton Prep at 8:45 p.m.

Class B — Minden vs. Falls City at 7:05 p.m.

Class C — Utica vs. Gibbon at 1:45 p.m.

Class D — De Witt vs. Herman at 12:05 p.m.

No Recent Champs

None of the finalists have enjoyed championships in recent years, while Herman and Gibbon have never captured a title trophy.

The Class A finals will match two of the finest teams in the state — both were ranked either 1 or 2 all season — and both clubs possess outstanding individuals.

Friday night Tech, paced by fabulous Fred Hare, ripped Columbus 83-54 to establish the highest Class A total since new records were launched in 1960. And Hare pumped in 35 points to erase the 33-point mark established Thursday by Creighton Prep's Wally Anderzunas.

Going into the finals, Hare has a total of 57 points while Anderzunas has 54.

Won In Twenties

Tech has been in the finals 7 times — the Trojans lost to Lincoln Northeast last year — and has won 4 crowns, but the last state title was way back in the Tech "golden era." Tech won in 1921-23-25 and 1926, but hasn't been in the throne room since. Creighton Prep also has fought for the title 7 times and has won 5, the last back in 1945 when the Junior Jays popped Scottsbluff, 33-23.

It's been a long time for the Class B finalists, too.

Falls City, which whipped Pierce, 64-55, Friday night at Pershing Auditorium, has never won in its current bracket. But the Tigers were Class A (6-class tourney) in 1956 and won the Class A title in 1939.

Minden's last title came in 1958 when current Lincoln High coach Alden Johnson was at the helm. The Whippets were a Class B entry in the 6-class affair.

Upset Of Day

The 1963 Whippets get credit for the upset of the day Friday, bouncing favored Ogallala, 60-55, at Pershing.

Gibbon, which had to play the entire second half of its afternoon Coliseum clash with Scribner without high-scoring Kurt Lauer—he fouled out in the first half—gained the finals by posting a 58-54 win.

Utica moved into the Class C finals against Gibbon by breaking loose from Tecumseh in the second half and posting a 52-39 victory.

While Gibbon has never won a state title, Utica did win a Class D crown in 1957 and captured Class O in 1923. The Tigers were runners up to Spencer last year.

De Witt gained revenge over Polk—which beat the Panthers in the Class D finals last year—by socking the Cubs, 58-35, Friday afternoon at Pershing. Herman took Maywood, 50-45, for its first shot at a state title.

De Witt won Class G in 1920.

Russian Troops Sail From Cuba

Havana (AP) — The Russian passenger liner Admiral Nakhimov sailed Friday night with perhaps as many as 2,000 homeward-bound Soviet troops.

No information was available on the passenger list. But hundreds of young Russians, carrying small bags and packages, had gathered at the waterfront during the day in Soviet-built army trucks.

The Soviet Union has promised to remove several thousand military personnel from Cuba by mid-March, but in Washington, some authorities said privately the Russians seemed in no hurry to keep their word.

Crowds were visible during the day milling inside the former Ward Line pier where the 13,286-ton ship was moored. At least 20 olive green trucks with benches for carrying personnel were parked outside the pier and others were inside.

Blanket Rolls

Some of the trucks that brought the young Russians to the waterfront were laden with suitcases and blanket rolls.

The Russians wore sport shirts and slacks. The Najimov, formerly the German Berlin, sailed last Dec. 26 with a large number of Russians. She had been back here for about a week, moored at the former United Fruit Co. pier.

LEGS BROKEN IN ACCIDENT

A 27-year-old Lincoln man suffered two broken legs in a car-pedestrian accident on Hwy. 34 in West Lincoln early Saturday morning.

A spokesman at St. Elizabeth Hospital identified the man as Alvin Adams of 2401 West O.

According to investigating officers, the mishap occurred when Adams got out of his car to untie a chain on the rear bumper. The chain had been attached to pull the vehicle from the ditch.

Adams was then struck by a car driven by Forest Brown Jr., 23, of 2510 No. 64th.

JFK Moves To Put Young Dads Beyond Reach Of Draft

Palm Beach, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy announced Friday a new move that in effect will put millions of young fathers beyond the reach of the military draft.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, relayed word that Kennedy signed an executive order which will shift virtually all draft-eligible fathers from class 1A to class 3A.

Salinger said the chances of a 3A draft prospect actually being inducted are far less than those classified 1A. Exceptions to the new draft rule are doctors, dentists and veterinarians, who will remain in class 1A even if they are fathers — provided they meet the physical qualifications, of course.

Asked why the action was taken, Salinger said he believed the Selective Service board was able to fill its monthly draft quotas "without tapping fathers."

Kennedy set up a weekend office at a borrowed ocean-front home here after flying from Washington for a week-end of rest and relaxation before going to Costa Rica.

Two bills which would have repealed zoning and planning powers of Lincoln and Lancaster County were killed Friday by the Legislature's Government and Military Affairs Committee upon recommendation of their sponsor.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, who said he introduced LB531 and LB533 at the request of a state official, told the committee to ax the measures.

Perhaps 200 persons were on hand to oppose the bills.

A show of hands indicated that Carpenter was the only proponent.

"I assure you that I won't stand alone in the future," he told the committee, saying that the bills were not his idea in the first place.

Committee Chairman Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud declared the hearing closed, and the committee immediately voted 7-0 to kill both proposals.

Another measure limiting Lincoln zoning powers, LB709, will be heard by the Public Works Committee March 25.

Commies Infiltrate Brazil Government

U.S. STATEMENT SHOWS CONCERN

... Over Goulart Policies

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington (AP)—The United States said Friday Communists have succeeded in infiltrating the government of Brazil. It did not elaborate.

The potentially explosive public assertion came in the midst of important Brazilian negotiations with the U.S. government for extensive financial assistance.

Whether the statement was calculated as a deliberate move in efforts by Washington to get Brazil to take a more decisive stand on Communist issues was not clear. There was considerable confusion in the way the State Department handled it.

Deep Concern

But there was no doubt that it reflected a deep concern in high official quarters over the policies of Brazilian President Joao Goulart. Brazil in the past has been one of the countries in this hemisphere most reluctant to take any strong actions against the Communist regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro in Cuba.

The allegation of Communist infiltration of the Brazilian government — originally attributed to U.S. Ambassador Lincoln Gordon — attracted widespread attention in Brazil.

A spokesman for the Brazilian Embassy said there would be no comment. Nor was there any from that country's finance minister, San Tiago Dantas, currently in Washington seeking extensive U.S. aid, including the release of some $84 million in aid which was withheld following the abrupt resignation of President Janio Quadros in 1961.

Help Gordon

One of the State Department's purposes in taking a public stand obviously is an effort to get Gordon out of a potentially embarrassing situation in his relations with the Brazilian government.

This was the sequence of confusing statements:

—The statement was issued Thursday, over Ambassador Gordon's name, in a printed report issued by a House foreign affairs subcommittee on inter-American affairs.

—State Department Press Officer Lincoln White told newsmen Friday that the statement had been given to the subcommittee "on the responsibility of the department, and it is improper to attribute any part of the text to Ambassador Gordon." The implication was that the subcommittee had made an error in printing the statement, or that newsmen had somehow misconstrued it.

Exactly

A spokesman for the House subcommittee said the document, including its title, was printed exactly as it was received from the State Department. "I don't know if Mr. Gordon ever saw it," the spokesman added, "but that's what we got."

—White then told newsmen "there apparently has been a minor misunderstanding about the authority for the statement," adding: "The Department was under the impression that it was forwarding to the committee departmental views. There is no difference of opinion about the contents."

The series of events left unsettled the matter of Brazil's reaction to Gordon as U.S. Ambassador, but it served to point up sharply the issue of Communist influence in Brazilian affairs, (as Washington sees it.)

White and other officials said they could not spell out how or by whom this influence might be exerted. They declined to be specific as to the nature of the alleged infiltration into the Brazilian government itself.

dragging them might be easier. That's tough too, so he decided to rest. He said he thought he'd buy some canned pork and beans, a loaf of bread, and "maybe some candy."

Morrison Announces Approved Guard Plans

By BETTY PERSON
Star Staff Writer

The approved reorganization plan for the Nebraska National Guard — now to be known as the 67th Infantry Brigade — was announced Friday by Gov. Frank Morrison.

Word of approval from the National Guard Bureau in Washington clears the way for the reorganization or conversion to the new troop structure to be made effective throughout the state April 1.

The new plan provides for Nebraska its own brigade at a slightly higher authorized strength, and also marks the first time in recent history that the National Guard combat forces allotted to Nebraska have not been split with other states.

Prior to World War II Nebraska elements were a part of the 35th Infantry Division, and after that war became a part of the 34th Infantry Division.

Gov. Morrison said the numerical designation of the 67th was chosen to commemorate Nebraska's 1967 Centennial celebration.

Most units' numerical designations remained unchanged, such as the 134th Infantry designation retained for the brigade infantry elements, the 128th Engineer designation retained for engineer elements, and the artillery kept the 168th designation.

Camp To Be Used

Camp Ashland will continue to be used as a base for all Army Guard flying elements and all Army Guard aircraft will be permanently based at H. J. Paul Army Airfield at Ashland — the only airfield operated by the Nebraska Army Guard.

The governor said that no full-time Army Guard employee will lose his job as a result of the reorganization.

This is the new station plan, including the units, locations and authorized strength (complete details to be announced prior to April 1):

Lincoln — HQ and HQ company, 67th Infantry Brigade, 164 men.

Rural, Municipal Power Board Concord Fails

An agreement between rural power districts representatives and spokesmen for municipal utilities on provisions of the proposed state power review board bill Friday came unglued.

An amendment aimed at solving a dispute over electric service in the zoning areas outside corporate limits of municipalities was pieced together at a meeting Thursday. It didn't last 24 hours.

The bill, LB220, will probably be considered by the Legislature's Public Works Committee at its meeting next Monday.

In the meantime, power representatives will renew their efforts to reach agreement, it was learned.

Newsprint Price Eyed

Washington (AP)—The chairman of a House antitrust subcommittee said Friday if illegal practices are behind increases in the price of the paper on which newspapers are printed, Congress should do something about it.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., said he is surprised the American Newspaper Publishers Association hasn't tried.

Celler's subcommittee is looking into the concentration of ownership in the U.S. newspaper business.

Reason

The New York congressman said subcommittee investigators found the high price of newsprint often is cited as a reason for the collapse of some newspapers.

"Now if this rising cost is due to illegal means, I think we should remove those illegal means if we can," Celler said.

Celler said a Canadian newsprint cartel "places the business of newspapers in a bind."

Steady

Celler asked Stanford Smith, general manager of the publishers association, whether newsprint prices declined after New York newspapers ceased publication because of the strike there.

Smith said the price remained steady, at $135 a ton. He said the price was $59 a ton 20 years ago, and rose steadily until it reached the $135 level in 1957.

"So that regardless of supply and demand the price is fixed in Canada by a group of wilful men, I might say," Celler said.

Balked

He said the subcommittee tried to investigate newsprint prices in 1950, but was balked when some U.S. companies rushed their records across the Canadian border, and the Ontario legislature passed a law making it illegal for anyone to give a legislative tribunal any information about newsprint.

"This shows the extreme these companies have gone to in behalf of the cartel," Celler said. "And I'm sorry to say our own State Department did not give us much help at the time. They were co-conspirators, as it were."

Celler said some U.S. newspaper publishers hold interests in Canadian newsprint plants. "I'd like to know whether or not these newspaper publishers who have these interests in paper mills, do they follow what is known as price leadership?" he asked.

No Information

Smith said he has no information on ownership of paper mills by U.S. publishers.

Phillip Marcus, a subcommittee attorney, asked Smith whether the newsprint companies "expressly key their prices to the prices charged by certain dominant newsprint companies."

Smith said they do.

Powder Blast Kills 3

... PLANT WRECKED IN PENNSYLVANIA

Allentown, Pa. (AP)—Three men were killed Friday and 8 others hurt, none seriously, in a fire and an explosion powder plant in a neighboring rural area.

The dead: Carl Bleiler, 27, of New Tripoli R.D. 1; Clare Metzger, 23, of Germansville R.D. 1; and Harold Henry, 50, of Lynnpport.

The Trojan Powder Company issued a statement saying: "a fire of unknown origin broke out in the manufacturing areas of the Seiple plant shortly before 9 a.m. The cause of it cannot be determined until a full investigation has been made."

A spokesman said there would be no further comment for the time being and that no estimate of damage could be made now.

Others near the scene and a newsman who flew over it, said the Seiple plant, where blasting powder was made for cement mills in the Lehigh Valley, blew up, leaving only parts of two walls. Hours after the explosion, which was heard for 25 miles, the ruins still smoked.

The Seiple plant was one of perhaps 100 buildings making up the Trojan industry which sprawls over a broad area about 5 miles north of Allentown. It was a half mile or more from the main plant. In the interest of safety the various units are widely separated from one another.

Loud 'Shut Up' Brings Quiet To Royal Lunch

Alice Springs, Australia, (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth, touring Australia's Outback Country, watched a cattle roundup Friday, spoke over the "Flying Doctor" radio and heard a colonel obtain silence at a royal lunch by yelling, "shut up."

Unprecedented

The shout was probably unprecedented at such an occasion but had the desired effect.

The Queen and Philip first appeared shocked but then laughed.

The Queen's private secretary, Sir Michael Adeane, leaned toward the blushing Rose and said: "Good show, old boy."

Rose said later he felt justified because "the mob wouldn't stop talking and drinking."

Earlier, the Queen, who arrived in this central Australian town Thursday, spoke over the radio of the emergency flying doctor service started by the Rev. Dr. John Flynn to bring medical aid to families scattered over thousands of square miles around Alice Springs.

"I have a family myself and fully understand what this mantle of safety means to wives and mothers," the Queen said.

The Queen and Philip then attended a local lunch at which officials had trouble obtaining silence from the chattering audience.

Opera Star Slain; Killer Wounds Self

Rome (AP)—A wounded man clutching a smoking pistol stumbled down a 4th-floor corridor of a fashionable Rome hotel Friday and collapsed. Minutes later, police found the bullet-riddled body of a pretty American opera singer in a scarlet nightgown lying in a pool of blood in her room.

Police said soprano Frances McCann, 41, mother of 4, was shot to death by businessman Ernest Arthur Boxmann, 54, of New York, and that he later wounded himself in the head with the same pistol.

His condition was listed as critical. Doctors said he may lose his sight, if he lives.

Motive for the shooting was not known immediately. Police who questioned Boxmann, a U.S. citizen of German birth, quoted him as saying he did not remember what happened.

Miss McCann, well known as a singer in California and Europe, was married to J. Walter Rodgers of Altadena, Calif. Their 4 children, aged 6 to 17, are in school there. Rodgers told a newsman his wife was nearing the end of a two-year contract with the Berlin Opera Company.

Police said Miss McCann and Boxmann arrived in Italy from Berlin Monday and took rooms at the Bernini-Bristol Hotel at the foot of famed Via Veneto. The officers said they thought Boxmann was her impresario, but added they were not sure.

Boxmann was listed as a businessman. His passport gave his address as 680 West End Ave., New York, and showed he had last left the United States on Feb. 24. Hotel personnel said they understood Miss McCann was to have made some recordings here.

Dr. Mario Luglie of the Rome Homicide Bureau said Boxmann shot the woman in her room then shot himself with the same pistol in his own room.

Bolivia Plane Carrying 41 Thought Down

Santiago, Chile (AP)—A 4-engine Bolivian airliner with 41 persons aboard apparently crashed Friday in a sparsely settled Chile-Bolivia border area, police announced Friday night.

The passenger list included one American, identified as Leon Bernstein, among the 36 passengers. No address was available. Twelve countries were represented on the list.

The plane left the Chilean port of Arica about noon and was due at La Paz, Bolivia, at 1 p.m. EST. It was said to have enough fuel to last until 4:30 p.m.

The plane, a DC6, was thought at first to have crashed in the desert in northern Chile. Police said residents of Villa Oriental, a small town in the area, reported hearing some sort of crash. A search party was dispatched from Arica.

Texas School Bus Struck By Auto

Waco, Tex. (AP)—An auto struck a school bus at a highway intersection near here Friday, injuring 10 persons, 8 of them students on the bus.

The bus was carrying junior high and elementary students to the Axtell School, about 14 miles east of this central Texas city.

None of those injured were listed as serious.

Officers said the bus overturned into a ditch after being struck by an auto driven by Miss Betty Kirbo, 19, a student at Baylor University in Waco.

Packers, Retailers Are Absolved Of Any Blame

... In Meat Price Practices By Feeders Official

David City (P) — The executive secretary of the National Livestock Feeders Association told the David City Rotary Club there has been nothing illegal on the part of packers or retailers in regard to their meat pricing practices.

The official, Don Magdanz of Omaha, said the livestock price situation was "a situation which couldn't be predicted, nor could anything be done about it."

Magdanz listed several circumstances which he said resulted in the congestion of the meat supply. Among them, he said, were:

—The dock strike last fall which had a far-reaching impact on many types of business.

Feguer Hangs For Slaying Iowa Doctor

By RON SPEER

Fort Madison, Iowa (P) — Victor Harry Feguer was hanged just before dawn Friday for the kidnap-slaying of a Dubuque physician in 1960.

It was the first federal execution carried out in Iowa since the federal kidnapping law was passed about 30 years ago.

Feguer, 27, of St. John's, Mich., walked steadily up the 16 steps to the gallows, and was dropped to his death at 5:34 a.m. Even in death the stocky bachelor showed no signs of emotion. A clenched left hand was the only movement he made when the rope snapped his life.

Death came after a last meal of only an olive, which Feguer had requested as a symbol of peace.

Feguer, who had denied abducting and killing Dr. Edward Bartels, 34, July 11, 1960, was dressed neatly in a blue suit and dark blue tie. He weighed 192 pounds, 22 more than when he was arrested in Birmingham, Ala., by FBI agents 10 days after Dr. Bartels was lured from his home by a fake sick call. Feguer attended a mass in a security cell about 60 feet from the gallows about 4 a.m. before making his last walk.

Agate Fossil Beds Possible National Park

Omaha (P) — U.S. Sen. Roman Hruska plans a May visit to the fossil beds near Agate, Neb., the National Park Service said.

Howard W. Baker, regional director of the Park Service, said Hruska was interested in seeing the area in connection with a move to establish an Agate Springs fossil beds national monument.

Scientists have been studying the fossil deposits, so rich they have been described as a "pavement of bones," for more than half a century. One 2,000 pound slab of soft sandstone encasing bones of a prehistoric rhinoceros has been removed to the University of Nebraska State Museum.

The deposits at Agate Springs are in two pyramid-like hills.

The fossils are on the ranch of Mrs. Harold J. Cook. Baker said it was Cook's wish that the land go to the National Park Service, and his widow is hopeful that a bill establishing the national monument can be introduced during the current session of Congress.

About 2,000 acres are involved including some land owned by 4 other persons. Baker said they, too, favor the monument plan.

Cook was the son of Capt. James Cook, Indian scout, guide and cattleman. The Cook Ranch has a collection of Indian objects collected by the Cooks from Chief Crazy Horse and others.

Agate is in Sioux County on state Highway 29 about 35 miles north of Mitchell.

Creighton Receives $81,708 In Grants

Omaha (UPI) — Two grants totaling $81,708 have been received by the Creighton University Schools of Medicine and Dentistry from the U.S. Public Health Service.

The school of medicine received $51,708, and the dentistry school's grant was valued at $30,000.

Phillips Files For Re-Election To Air Authority Board

Robert J. Phillips of 3430 East Pershing Road filed Friday for re-election to the Airport Authority.

Phillips, 43, executive vice president of Lincoln Equipment Co., is currently the board's secretary.

He was first elected to a 4-year term in 1959.

Phillips attended the University of Nebraska College of Engineering and served as a captain during World War II. He is a licensed pilot. He is married and has 4 children.

2-Car Crash Kills Man, 81

Grand Island (P) — Grand Island recorded its first traffic death of the year Friday night when 81-year-old Ralph H. Collins was killed in an intersection crash.

He was seated in the back seat of a car driven by his daughter, 48-year-old Rita N. Fletcher of Grand Island. The Fletcher car and one driven by 21-year-old Keith E. Kelly of Grand Island collided, with the Fletcher car being struck on the side where Collins was sitting.

The death raised the Nebraska traffic toll for the year to 54. It was 43 on March 15 of last year.

Syria Recognized

Tokyo (P) — Communist China recognized the new revolutionary regime of Syria, Peking Radio announced.

D. H. Petersen Candidate For Strong Mayor

Dean H. Petersen of 2401 Park Ave. filed Friday as a candidate for full-time mayor.

Petersen, 59, is vice president and director of the Nebraska-Iowa Milk Carriers Association and owns controlling interest in Dean H. Petersen & Son Inc. Bulk Milk Transportation Co. He is president of the Petersen Cornhusker Council of the Boy Scouts of America, holds the Silver Beaver award, and recently received the Veteran Scouters Pin.

He is a member of Rotary, Masons, and Elks and a former director of the Nebraska Mid-State Public Power & Irrigation District.

Petersen attended Dana College at Blair and the University of Nebraska and has been active in retail and wholesale lumber in Nebraska for nearly 40 years.

Petersen has two children, Dean L. Petersen and Mrs. James L. Weesner, both of Lincoln.

Dana Students Aid Red Cross Campaign

Blair (UPI) — Students at Dana College staged a 5-hour Red Cross campaign in Washington County.

Red Cross officials earlier this month requested the student body officers to lend assistance in the fund-raising campaign.

The goal for the campaign was $2,600, needed to help keep the county blood bank operating.

Brestel Replacing Twarling On Ballot

Dalton (P) — Glen Twarling, nominated at the Feb. 26 caucuses for both the Dalton Town Board and the School Board, asked to have his name removed from the ballot for the village council.

He stated that he felt he could not serve on both boards and do an adequate job. Glenn Brestel was nominated in his place.

Mrs. Clark First Woman In History To Seek Columbus Council Post

Columbus (P) — For the first time in history a woman is running for the Columbus City Council.

She is Mrs. Ann Clark who tossed her spring chapeau in the ring when incumbent Willis Krumland withdrew.

Another switch involved a candidate's party affiliation. Morris D. Raymond, a registered Republican, changed parties to run as a Democrat against incumbent Republican Water Commissioner Herbert Abts.

Mayor Cleo Kuntzelman is unopposed for his second term in the April 2 election. There are no special issues, and contests have been reduced by the decisions of 3 incumbents not to seek re-election.

Mayor Kuntzelman, a Republican; City Clerk Leo Boettcher, a Democrat; Walter Commissioner, Herbert Abts, a Republican, are unopposed. Police Judge J. H. Moeller, a Democrat; and City Councilmen Balter Burzynski and James L. Rich Sr., are not seeking re-election.

Martin Stenger and William Held are seeking Burzynski's seat while George Rambo III and Leon Lauver are candidates for the seat being vacated by Rich.

Trade School For West Is Favored

Scottsbluff (P) — The Western Nebraska United Chambers of Commerce adopted resolutions favoring establishment of a trade school in western Nebraska and favoring LB493, a bill to give the Game Commission power of eminent domain in obtaining land for development of state parks.

The Scottsbluff Chamber of Commerce offered a resolution favoring state aid to junior colleges, but the board of directors of the WNUCC decided the subject needed more study and the resolution was withdrawn.

THE WEATHER

Summary of Conditions
A Pacific cold front moved through the central and southern Rockies in the past 24 hours, and Friday evening extended from a low center in extreme eastern Wyoming to the western edge of the Nebraska Panhandle and should be moving about eastward late Saturday evening and should extend from a low center in about the southwest corner of Wisconsin to the southeast corner of Kansas into the big bend area of Texas.

Some scattered light rain showers may be occurring in eastern Nebraska and portions of southwest Iowa by Saturday morning. Barring no accelerations, the Pacific front should move thru the Omaha area mid day Saturday. Rain showers will accompany the front and for a period following the front. Some rain mixed locally with snow may occur in central and portions of northern Nebraska Saturday. It will be possible too for thunderstorms to begin by late morning or early afternoon just ahead of this cold front up through western Missouri, eastern Kansas, the southeast corner of Nebraska and Iowa as the front approaches and moisture increases sufficiently to set them off.

Extended Forecasts
NEBRASKA: Temperatures for the 5 day period Saturday thru Wednesday will average 6 to 10 degrees above normal. Continued mild with only minor day to day changes. Normal minimums mid to upper 20's normal maximums 45 to 50. Precipitation will average 10 to 30 of an inch occurring as occasional showers mostly over weekend and again about Tuesday or Wednesday.

KANSAS: Temperatures for the 5 day period Saturday thru Wednesday will average 6 to 10 degrees above normal. Continued mild with only minor day to day changes. Normal minimums upper 20's northwest to low 30's southeast. Normal maximums in 50's. Precipitation will average 10 to 30 of an inch occurring as occasional showers mostly over weekend and again about Tuesday or Wednesday.

Thin Line Of Balance

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Few people need to be told that life is no bed of roses as experience has long ago proven this to them. Day-to-day living brings many rewards, of course, but there are always challenges to be met and frustrations to be conquered. The properly balanced person is one who, in general and simple terms, can take the bitter with the sweet. He has a certain sense of reality and at least a fair understanding of himself and his capabilities.

With his job, his income, his home and his other possessions, he realizes that he has achieved a level or standard of living that, while not perfect or as high as he might like, could be a great deal worse and does represent a fair portrayal of his ability. He may feel that with certain breaks and a little better opportunity, he might have achieved more but he also recognizes that many good things have come his way. He is content with good health, a warm home, close family ties, adequate leisure time and recreation and friendships he values. He has learned that life is a state of mind as well as a state of being and the two things must eventually be brought into balance if a well adjusted and happy existence is to be achieved.

He attempts to pass on this same kind of balance to his children. He attempts to instill in them a proper respect for others and the property of others, an understanding of right and wrong, a feeling of responsibility, ambition and personal contentment. But unfortunately, the ingredients of a happy and successful life are so many and varied that they are not always put together in the proper dosages.

This is the opinion, too, of a group of psychiatrists who have attempted to study the case history of killers in an effort to discover a means of finding them before their crime is committed. This has long been a dream of the medical world—to be able to spot the potential killer in advance and be able to take steps that would alter the path of future violent crime.

Characteristically, said the psychiatrists, the sudden murderer was a man who came from a close knit family in which the mother was a domineering, over-protective figure who emphasized conformity to the rules of the social system. The psychiatrists said that in the majority of the cases in their study, the killer suffered from constant conflict between inner feelings of inadequacy and conscious needs to succeed, between an inner sense of psychological isolatedness and an outward drive toward conformity.

They added that many persons with similar behavioral patterns never become killers and that it may be because of some intervening socializing factor such as satisfactory interpersonal experience with church groups, Scout activities, employer, friend or even spouse. Obviously, the psychiatrists still have not come up with any final answers. We are not headed into a golden age during which every potential killer will be spotted in his school years and his future pattern of life changed into a constructive one for society. Perhaps such a day will never come but certainly the situation would be improved in many respects if more people come to understand and appreciate the many factors that enter into the formation of a child's character.

It is not just the future murderer with which we are concerned. How great a failure we would all be if all we could say of our children was that they never killed anybody. We want and expect much more of them than this. We want to judge them not just negatively but positively—to be able to see the things that they have accomplished, the wholesome influence they have been upon the world.

This doesn't mean that all parents expect their children to be a phenomenal success in the business world. It means that they expect their children to be a success in living their lives, in getting along with other people, in setting a good example and in getting some enjoyment out of life.

And the study by the psychiatrists shows again what most people should know, that it takes a lot of effort, patience and understanding to achieve these results. The child who is bent too far in any direction is going to be somewhat out of balance. Probably there is none of us who is in perfect balance but the degree of departure from this is definitely limited. How limited, even the psychiatrists still do not know but they know enough to warn us that it takes a conscious effort to direct the lives of our children in specific ways.

Too much discipline will destroy ingenuity and too little will lead to irresponsibility. Some children learn to lean too heavily on others while some fail to lean enough. For some, life is presented as too somber an experience while for others life is the proverbial bowl of cherries. A balance of all these things does not just happen, but rather, is the product of the home in which such an objective is seriously sought.

St. Patrick's Day Named In Orders

WASHINGTON — Just 183 years ago today, General George Washington issued from his headquarters in Morristown, N.J., the first American order pertaining to St. Patrick's Day.

It was inspired by the news that the Irish parliament had petitioned Great Britain to remove trade restrictions on Ireland, and that Lord North had arisen in the British parliament to say that his majesty's government would be inclined to end these restrictions.

General Washington, who had a large number of Irishmen in the Continental Army, and understood politics as well as tactics then issued March 16, 1780, the following general order giving a holiday to the sons of St. Patrick:

"The general congratulates the Army on the very interesting proceedings of the parliament of Ireland and the inhabitants of that country which have been lately communicated; not only as they appear calculated to remove those heavy and tyrannical oppressions on their trade but to restore to a brave and generous people their ancient rights and freedom and by their operations to promote the cause of America. Desirous of impressing on the minds of the Army, transactions so important in their nature, the general directs that all fatigue and working parties cease for tomorrow the seventeenth, a day held in particular regard by the people of that nation. At the same time that he orders this, he persuades himself that the celebration of the day will not be attended with the least rioting or disorder, the officers to be at their quarters in camp and the troops of the state line are to keep within their own encampment."

George Washington may not have foreseen the day that a great grandson of an Irish immigrant would sit in the chair he occupied as president; but he did know that without the Irish his army might have fought a lot longer to attain independence for the new republic.

Hanging on the front wall of the White House today is the portrait of an Irish general, John Stark, born in Londonderry, N.H., who was one of Washington's brilliant commanders. A professional soldier, Stark served as a lieutenant in Rogers' Rangers, fought in the battle of Lake George in the French and Indian war, and commanded the New Hampshire troops in the battle of Bunker Hill. As he led his men into battle at a walk, between the left flank of the patriot line and the river, some of the Massachusetts militia officers urged him to order his men to run, since they were under fire.

Stark replied that if they ran they would be tired when they arrived at their battle stations and he wanted to save their fighting strength. At the battle of Bennington, Stark led raw troops up the hill under fire at dawn against professional British soldiers who were behind breastworks supported by cannon, and beat the daylights out of them with the loss of only 24 of his men.

Top Emphasis On Progress Alliance

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy will take personal command of the effort to shore up the shaky Alliance For Progress program for Latin America in a visit to Costa Rica next week.

This week Senator George McGovern, South Dakota Democrat and former director of the Food For Peace Program, undertook to plow some ground for him. It was McGovern's maiden speech and combined an attack on what he termed "our Castro fixation" with an appeal to Congress to push on with the "tough and painful" task of making the alliance work.

The alliance, as with all foreign aid, is regarded with unusual sourness by a Congress asked to accept some unorthodox economics including a tax cut and a heavily unbalanced budget. Its especial weakness is the failure of Latin-American countries to seek their own salvation in reform of the systems which have impoverished their people.

They have come to believe at last that Congress may be balking, judging by various impassioned public relations efforts they are making. Certainly they are necessarily impressed when a veteran New Dealer, Senator Ernest Gruening of Alaska, spreads a terse, forceful warning on the congressional record as he did last week.

Senator McGovern's interest in the historic American role of relieving human misery, as reflected in his executive job, permeated his long review of Latin-American sufferings at the hands of its own rulers. This was to be expected; he knows the story well at first hand.

His blunt comments on "Castro fixation" are possibly even more welcome in the White House, which shares his view but hesitates to call Congress to account on the wisdom of its course.

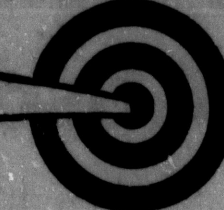

As McGovern sees it, Khrushchev has, by embracing Castro, reduced Castro's appeal in this hemisphere. But, argued the senator, the Russian investment has been worthwhile to him as a "gadfly to divert the attention of the United States from the real dangers and challenges of Latin America."

This position would once have provoked some lively debate, pro and con. But such is out of fashion. Members of the Senate and House prefer in the television age to spread their views on the screen rather than slug on the floor.

It took indeed some courage for the Freshman Democrat to lead an argument in these terms as his Republican colleague, Senator Karl Mundt, is among those who make anti-Communism an end in itself. McGovern suggests that the American mission is "to point the way to a better life."

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON
The president of the Association of Nebraska Taxpayers sort of had his say this week.

Wray Scott of Omaha took to the microphone at the Statehouse to express his opposition to Sen. Kenneth Bowen's income tax proposal.

But the temptation to speak up proved too much. And by the time he finally sat down, Scott had managed to attack the University of Nebraska, its agricultural extension economists, the vice chancellor for the College of Medicine and State Agriculture Director Pearle Finigan.

Mr. Scott wandered far afield. He said the University distributed "dishonest and untruthful information" in its recent tax seminars. Further, he insisted, the seminars were designed to divide and conquer by pitting rural residents against urban dwellers.

Scott questioned whether tax-supported schools or other such bodies should be allowed to "brainwash the Legislature."

NU Vice Chancellor Dr.

Roy Holly "misled" the Legislature by suggesting that the College of Medicine might be in danger of losing its accreditation, Scott declared. "Nothing," he said, "could be further from the truth."

Scott dismissed Dr. Harold McClelland, who recommended adoption of a state income tax, as just "a college professor imported from California."

He slapped at Finigan for his proposed investigation of livestock and meat prices, suggesting that "economics determine the market."

What all these energies could better be directed at, Scott said, would be to cut the costs of government. In fact, the Revenue Committee was told, the Legislature could actually lower the state mill levy by providing for more equalized assessment.

An income tax, he said, would be "a cancer."

Well now, all that's quite a mouthful.

It must be reassuring to have all the answers. And to those with whom you may disagree, the formula seems simple and rather consistent: attribute to them nothing but the worst motives and a lack of wisdom.

Come now, Mr. Scott. We think that it is way past time that certain Ne-braskans stop using the University of Nebraska as a political whipping boy.

The guy who followed Scott on the stand said students at the University were being "indoctrinated with welfare state philosophy."

And of course we've all long since heard the wise words of Mr. Simmons who is apparently terribly alarmed that students at NU are thinking young men and women.

We're darn glad that they are. And because they are, it's dead certain they're often going to come to different conclusions than those of Mr. Simmons and Mr. Scott.

Thursday's public hearing didn't help the chances of the income tax bill.

It lacked broad public support—receiving only the united backing of farm organizations, and a boost from the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

Education organizations sat on their hands.

Lincoln's support was anemic. Ken Bowen has his work cut out for him if he is to successfully fight off an effort to kill his bill when it reaches the floor for debate, tentatively scheduled for about the first of April.

Your Five Cents Worth

Brevity in letters is requested, but length in itself will have no bearing on publication. Writers are advised that need less details and readers are advised that need less details. The business of the newspaper is to inform, not to entertain. All letters must be accompanied by writer's true name and may be submitted for publication under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials only at the editor's discretion.

Simmons Challenged
Lincoln, Neb.

In a recent campaign, Fremont attorney Ray Simmons lashed out at the student newspaper of the University of Nebraska. He claims that this newspaper is completely liberal in its outlook and the university should take steps to correct this. He also claims that the newspaper is tax-supported and the public has the right to determine its policy.

Several times university officials have pointed out that this newspaper is completely supported by the students themselves. It has also been shown that the newspaper has shown both sides of the political coin, yet Mr. Simmons who believes he has a legitimate complaint has not gone to the authorities who could correct this wrong if a wrong exists. He has brought the issue to the public which has created an issue much greater than the original.

It seems overly coincidental that Mr. Simmons makes these attacks during the time when the university's budget is up for approval in the Legislature. We as students have a great concern in this matter as well as the people of Nebraska. Our democracy is based on education. It is vital that our young people be provided the best education available and this admittedly costs money. The Legislature, our representative body, must be alert to public opinion and will at least consider Mr. Simmons' remarks in considering the proposed budget.

Since many of the people of Nebraska have children in or about to enter the university and as many of us at the university will some day want our children to have the best education possible, we must not let it go unchallenged. We cannot allow a remark such as Mr. Simmons' which has political overtones to influence our legislators' opinions. We must match this with our own opinion. We must show our legislators that the people of Nebraska want a good university, that we want our young adults to be equal to or better than the youths of other states in the matter of education.

Meat Prices
Battle Creek, Neb.

The news has come that after a meeting with five senators, officials of the Nebraska Feeders Association have asked all concerned to call off the price investigation on the meat situation.

Let the consuming public be misled into believing that the Feeders Association represents the grass roots livestock man, let me make a few facts clear. The Feeders Association has among its members commission men, bankers, stockyards officials and many other interests far removed from the family type livestock feeder. This recent action by the group can suggest only one thing. Someone has his finger in the pie!

MRS. R. W. RENNER
ST. LOUIS, MO.

He Has Answer
Craig, Neb.

I noticed an editorial recently in The Star about livestock prices. Why should people be upset by cheap livestock? The heads of the stockyards and feeders association who claim to speak for the feeding industry have yelled to the high heavens that they want free enterprise, that the law of supply and demand will solve their problems. They have raved for years that they wanted no regulation or controls, but that they could come out top dog in a dog-eat-dog economy. They derided and belittled the NFO members for trying to sell their livestock products on contract for cost of production plus a reasonable profit.

The feeding industry is now in trouble and those same spokesmen will cry out for a government buying program to help the industry. They will blame taxes, strikes, chain stores, the weather, the Common Market and everything on the face of the earth but the real cause—cheap grain. Grain prices that gave the feeder such a favorable feeding margin caused all the feed companies, banks, farm magazines, chambers of commerce and other advisors to urge the people in the livestock industry to expand, expand, expand and those not in to get in and make a fast buck. I guess they hadn't heard that you need a dependable market and even then those fast buck enterprises sometimes backfire.

Nebraska is and has been exporting its two most valuable products at bargain prices. We are getting only 78 cents for every one dollar's worth of agricultural products we produce and the return we receive for the educated young people we are exporting will not start to compensate even a little bit for the heartaches caused by missing those grand children.

How long could the businessmen continue to operate if their costs remained static and they gave everyone a 22% discount on the things they have to sell?

The answer to the problem of the farm population is as obvious as it is simple. There are two different methods to arrive at the answer. I know both methods and the only answer. Does anyone else?

Both Sides
Scottsbluff, Neb.

Having read Ray Simmons' analysis of five semesters of the Daily Nebraskan, I challenge Dr. William Hall of the School of Journalism to prove to all of Nebraska why he would give the report an "R."

He should prove this by presenting to all who care to read both sides a careful analysis of the other columns, cartoons, editorials, etc. that he feels Mr. Simmons has omitted.

All Nebraskans feel that freedom of the press is very valuable. As a parent, all I ask is that the students be presented both sides of a question. There is only one newspaper at the university and in such a situation, both sides should be available to all so that the students may intelligently make up their own minds on vital issues.

An Uncomfortable Situation

The adverse report of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation on the feasibility of the proposed Fullerton reservoir on the lower Loup River creates an uncomfortable situation for a large segment of Nebraska. Advocates of the lower Loup project are naturally in disagreement with the report since they are dedicated to the proposition that the project is essential to guarantee an available supply of water to municipalities east of Columbus.

Their concern is founded not just in the current state of affairs, but in the certainty of expanded irrigation in the upper reaches of the North Loup and Calamus Rivers. Projects now contemplated for this area will more than double the number of acres under irrigation in the watershed. This will mean even less water flowing from the Loup into the Platte at Columbus. The complication comes from the disagreement as to the downstream results from this planned expansion of dams and irrigation in the upper reaches. The federal bureau does allocate some benefit to the Fullerton project for its stabilization of stream flow. Yet, it approves of developments upstream from Fullerton, obviously in the belief that these developments are not fatal to downstream interests.

Lincoln is one of the cities so interested since its water comes from wells along the Platte River. Lincoln would be in serious difficulty if Loup River developments eventually curtailed the Platte flow and endangered the city's water supply. The bureau report on the Fullerton project, however, is not to be condemned. Rather, it is to be carefully analyzed so the state can proceed in orderly fashion to develop its water resources in the most efficient and productive manner possible.

The Quiet Helper

National Want Ad week came to a close without incident. There were no parades, no formal speaking and not much publicity. The reason was that the American people were too busy reading the classified pages—a habit that is deeply ingrained. In itself that forms as good a tribute to that department of a newspaper as one could imagine.

The classified ad is a humble brother in the journalistic family, never heroic like the regular news department, hardly regarded by those resourceful and enterprising figures who preside over display advertising. But in its quiet variety and its contentment with the commonplace the classified ad has always been the companion of the rank and file, the disciple of true objectivity and as reliable a mirror of community life as one can find.

The classified ad will find a horse for you, help you find a home, tell you where you can get fresh country eggs, dispose of a set of books, obtain a good used car, a set of do-it-yourself tools or find a buyer for that extra coffee pot. It will help you get a job or help you find someone who can do a special piece of work for you. It is the community clearing house, a barometer of trends and all in all a tremendously accurate and interesting retailer of the news.

A classified ad never won a Pulitzer prize, but it practices better brevity and clarity than most, and maintains a devoted readership which actually makes gains from the reading. Who else can say so much?

Editorial Of The Day

Prudent View Of Imports

From The Des Moines Register
When livestock prices fall into a slump, someone always comes up with the idea that imports of meat are one of the causes, so imports should be cut off.

It is indeed prudent to consider the import picture. Let us do so. Obviously one cannot consider meat imports alone and come up with a realistic judgment about import policy. As a minimum, one must also look into exports of meat to appraise the effect of foreign trade on livestock prices.

Imports of all red meats have been running around a billion pounds a year in recent years. This amounts to about 4 per cent of total red meat production in the United States.

But the U.S. has been exporting red meat also, around 230 million pounds each year. And when poultry is included, U.S. meat exports the last two years were more than one-third in value of U.S. imports of the same commodities. So the net effect on U.S. livestock prices of foreign trade in meat is extremely small.

U.S. agriculture as a whole depends heavily on exports. In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1962, farm exports totaled $5.1 billion in value. The year before the figure was $4.9 billion. Total imports of agricultural products were $3.6 billion in fiscal 1961 and $3.8 billion in 1962. But much of this import trade was in agricultural products not directly competitive with U.S. farm products, including silk, rubber, spices, tea and bananas. When these products are deducted, the strictly competitive farm imports totaled $1.8 billion in fiscal year 1961 and $2.1 billion in 1962.

No nation can export if it refuses to import. A policy of curbing meat imports sooner or later would have repercussions on U.S. exports of both farm and other products. Such a policy would be painfully shortsighted to the point of stupidity.

Short Wave Radio Fills Convalescent's Leisure Time

By ROBERT PETERSON

Not many men get a crack at retirement prior to 65. But an occasional male falls ill in middle years and is given an early test in the problem of utilizing leisure time.

One such person is Webster H. Wilson, 48. Last year he found himself feeling tired most of the time. There was no pain, but he was losing weight and he felt exhausted following the slightest exertion. A physical exam revealed that he had tuberculosis.

Physicians assured him that drugs developed in the past decade would cure him. But they said that if the drugs were to be effective he would have to stay quietly at home for 6 months or longer and avoid all exertion and excitement. "The first few weeks were great," said Wilson when I stopped to talk with him recently. He's a slim, brown-eyed executive on leave of absence from an electronics firm. "I'd sleep late, have breakfast, read the papers in a leisurely fashion, and lunch with my wife. In the afternoon I'd browse among my books, and in the evening I'd watch television and go to bed early.

"But after a month I'd had it. My eyes are good but I found it fatiguing to read more than half an hour at a time. And, of course, television quickly lost its savor."

He said his salvation proved to be his short wave radio set. He had been interested in ham radio since his youth, knew the Morse code, and had a license to operate a radio transmitter.

He converted a storage room next to the kitchen into a radio room equipped with receiver, a 150 watt transmitter, file cabinets, and a sort of electronic gear. Then he began spending part of each day conversing with some of the 250,000 short wave radio operators in the U.S., and an estimated 50,000 in other parts of the world.

"I've made contact with 180 countries," he said showing me a file drawer filled with postal cards bearing stamps from such far-away places as Tahiti, Morocco, and Liechtenstein. "There are about 300 radio nations, and it's my goal to exchange cards with someone from each of these nations."

Is it costly to set up a radio receiving and transmitting unit? "Not very,"

he said. "If you know something about radio you can often assemble your own equipment and have a good station for less than $1,000. To buy the finest equipment available will cost you only about twice that. It's a modest investment, considering that a set lasts for decades, requires little upkeep, and permits you to converse as much as you like with other operators around the globe."

Does it take long to qualify for a license? "No, I'd guess the average person could learn the ropes and pass the exam for a license in about three months of serious study."

Have these months of leisure taught him anything? "Yes," he concluded, "they've brought home vividly to me that most men have an inaccurate concept of leisure. They think leisure will be great, but I can assure them a fellow accustomed to work has to have something absorbing to fill the vacuum or he'll go out of his mind. When I go back to my job in a few months, I'll have a new respect for work and the principles of retirement planning."

Senate Extends Draft

... VITAL TO DEFENSE POSTURE

Washington (UPI) — The Senate approved by voice vote Friday a 4-year extension of the military draft law, the first major bill of the present session to be sent to the White House.

The House had passed the bill earlier this week. The Senate action followed a brief speech by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., influential chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, who said continuation of the law was of "vital necessity to our defense posture."

Russell said the Defense Department cannot rely on voluntary enlistments to keep the Armed Forces up to strength and no one has proposed a "fair and satisfactory" substitute for the draft.

The bill, which ran into minor opposition in the House by some who favored a two-year extension rather than 4 years, was passed almost routinely by the Senate in contrast to the early days of the program when it was a matter of major debate.

The measure would extend the draft to July 1, 1967. It makes qualified males between the ages of 18-1/2 and 26 years liable to two years of military duty.

The Army expects to draft about 76,000 men this year. The law is also considered a stimulus to enlistments in the Army and the other services.

The bill also would:

—Suspend for another 4 years the ceilings on the size of the Armed Services. The restrictions have been dropped regularly since 1950, the year the Korean war began.

—Extend for 4 years the Government's authority to draft physicians and dentists. The Pentagon expects to call 1,500 doctors in the fiscal year beginning July 1, but may reduce this quota if enough physicians volunteer.

—Extend authority for special pay for the doctors and dentists and for veterinarians.

—Extend authority to increase the quarters allowances of enlisted men with dependents in the lower pay grades who allot a portion of their own pay.

discontent in "practical form" if no action was taken on its petition.

Apparently because of the known navy attitude, but possibly because of fears of mass reaction by Peronists if their party is outlawed again, federal police and army units were alerted nationwide. Special guards patrolled the public utilities.

Political tension, building up for the past fortnight, was heightened by dispatches from the Vatican reporting the reinstatement to good standing in the Roman Catholic Church of Peron, now living in exile in Spain.

Fears were expressed openly that the lifting of the church's excommunication against Peron — applied at the time of his ouster from power — might enhance the appeal of the Peronists at the polls.

The party swept federal elections in Argentina last year, but they were nullified at the demand of the armed forces and then President Arturo Frondizi was deposed for allowing the Peronists to take part in the balloting.

ARGENTINA ON ALERT; COUP RUMORS MOUNT

Buenos Aires (UPI) — The armed forces were alerted for action throughout Argentina Friday as rumors mounted of a possible navy coup against a threatened Peronist political comeback.

The Peronists are followers of ousted dictator Juan D. Peron. They have been banned as a political party in Argentina. However, an electoral court granted the Peronists the right to participate in scheduled June 23 elections as the Popular Union Party.

The navy was disclosed to have demanded that the government appeal the electoral court decision and, if unsuccessful, outlaw the Popular Union Party by decree.

Official sources said the navy was prepared to show its

Rail Unions Want To Talk

Chicago (AP)—Union negotiators for 200,000 on-train workers stood by Friday hoping for word that the nation's railroads were ready for a new attempt to settle a controversial work rules dispute.

Prodded by a request from Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz that both sides strive for a peaceful settlement of the 4-year-old problem, chiefs of the 5 unions involved said they were ready.

We're prepared to meet again with the carriers at their call," said Samuel C. Phillips, assistant president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and chairman of the Unions' negotiating committee.

But the carriers showed no inclination to resume immediately the negotiations that collapsed Wednesday 90 minutes after they commenced.

Morrison To Check Lobbyist In Ag Dept.

Gov. Frank Morrison said Friday he will talk to State Agricultural Director Pearle Finigan this weekend to "get the facts" on the employment of Roger Langenheim, Kansas City lawyer, by the department.

Controversy has arisen over Langenheim's being a part-time employee of the department, as well as a registered lobbyist for the Seaboard Allied Milling Corp.

When asked about the controversy, Morrison said he did "not know anything about it," but said he would talk to Finigan to determine the facts.

Asked about reports he was going to conduct an investigation, Morrison answered, "I don't need an investigation to talk to a department head."

Morrison said he had "not received any protests about it (Langenheim's employment) from anybody."

Last year, following a controversy over the Agriculture Department's employment of Nebraska State Grange Master George Spidel as a consultant—at the same time he appeared as a lobbyist on Grange matters before the Legislature—the governor had said he would not permit state employees to appear before legislative committees or attempt to influence legislation unless he directed them to do so.

Airport Work Given Okay

The State Aeronautics Commission Friday approved a $36,000 airport improvement project at Bassett.

The work will involve paving of the runway, taxiway and apron.

Bassett plans to finance the project with $18,000 federal aid, $9,000 of state funds and $9,000 from the local airport authority.

The commission approved the federal aid but held up approval of the state allocation to await the outcome of legislative consideration of Aeronautics Department finances.

Also received by the commission was a request from Omaha for money to build additional space in the airline operation wing of the new administration building at Eppley Airport. Proposed financing involves getting half of the $40,000 cost from the state, with the Omaha Airport Authority putting up the other $20,000.

Action on the Omaha request for state funds was delayed to await the outcome of legislative considerations, as in Bassett's case.

Debris Removal Ruling Is Affirmed

The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday affirmed Douglas County District Court's ruling in an action brought by John J. and Irene R. Gunia against Charles H. Morton.

The Gunias sought to compel Morton to remove dirt and debris from their land and to construct a retaining wall to protect their land from further encroachment.

The controversy in the case involved the finding in the district court decree that the dirt fill and debris deposited upon the plaintiffs' land "varies in depth from 1 to 8 feet and is in the amount of 3,500 cubic yards, more or less."

The plaintiffs contend the trial court actually found that the plaintiffs were to remove "all dirt and debris" from their property, and the reference in the decree to the depth of the dirt fill and debris was a clerical error which was made in recording the judgment of the court.

The Supreme Court said after reviewing the case that it could not agree with this point of view. It added a motion to amend the judgment by an order "nunc pro tunc" was properly overruled.

The district court told the plaintiffs to remove the dirt and debris and to notify the defendant who would then have to erect the retaining wall.

In other rulings Friday the court:

—Affirmed in part and reversed in part a Dodge County District Court divorce ruling.

Reversed was that part of the ruling which said Claus Melvin Matson must pay his former wife, Elizabeth K. Matson, $100 monthly alimony for the rest of her life.

The Supreme Court modified the amount to a fixed sum of $3,000 to be paid at the rate of $50 per month.

Upheled was that part of the lower court ruling which said Matson must pay $50 monthly to his wife for the support of their minor child.

Affirmed Buffalo County District Court in an action by Watkins Products, Incorporated, to recover from George Oren Rains, as principal, and Guyve A. Matson, George L. Gifford and Mrs. G. L. Gifford, as sureties, a balance of $1,250 plus 6% interest from Sept. 6, 1956.

The defendants filed a motion for judgment on the pleadings. The motion was sustained as to the sureties and overruled as to the principal. The Watkins firm appealed.

Reversed the Buffalo County District Court in a case involving the First Investment Co. and the state fire marshal.

The marshal brought a condemnation action against the investment firm in order to condemn a portion of a building in Kearney.

The trial court ruled that the company either repair or demolish its portion of the building. It ruled that if the company chose to demolish it that it be required to pay half the cost of erecting a tile wall from the first floor ceiling to the roof. The investment firm appealed.

The tile wall ordered would have been solely for the benefit of another party, the high court said, "and we are unable to find any reason, certainly no legal reason, why the owner whose building is being ordered removed, should be required to contribute in any way to the cost of the tile wall."

VAN ALLEN CONCEDES . . .

Artificial Radiation Belt Long-Lasting

Washington (AP) — Dr. James Van Allen conceded Friday the artificial radiation belt created by last summer's high-altitude U.S. nuclear test is going to last longer and cause more trouble than he had anticipated.

Van Allen, discoverer of the natural radiation belts which bear his name, thus reversed his field in his running argument with some government scientists about the effects of the blast high over the Pacific. He said at a news conference that — in contrast to his earlier estimates of about a year — he now expects the artificial belt to last for about 10 years and hopelessly foul up for at least that long experiments aimed at learning the secrets of the Van Allen belts.

He added that he feels the man-created radiation also will constitute a continuing menace to manned flights through the areas of space it occupies.

Since early last September, the government has been contending that part of the man-made belt might persist for many years and indicated it meant at least a decade.

The government's position was actually a reversal of one it had taken prior to the July 9 nuclear shot. In its September statement the government — represented by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department — said the artificial belt created by the blast over Johnston Island was much stronger than had been anticipated and might persist for many years.

Meanwhile, Van Allen had steadfastly held to his views — voiced prior to the shot — that the anticipated artificial belt would not persist for more than a year.

But Friday he said he has changed his position due to evidence accumulated by Explorer XV, a scientific spacecraft designed especially to study the new artificial belt, and to evidence obtained by several other satellites.

He said his change of position boils down to this: "It amounts to a difference between my intuitive expectations (prior to and for months after the shot) and the actual observations."

Van Allen talked to reporters at an international symposium on scientific satellites sponsored by the Goddard Space Flight Center of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Con Pleads Guilty To Criminal And Escape Charges

William Edward Yates pleaded guilty in Lancaster District Court Friday to attempt to escape and habitual criminal charges in connection with the attempted escape with two other inmates at the State Penitentiary Monday.

Yates, 20, of Yakima, Wash., now serving a 24-year sentence for robbery, faces possible additional 30 years.

The attempted escape charge carries a penalty of from one to 10 years, while the habitual criminal charge carries a minimum of 10 years with a maximum of 20.

Judge Herbert Ronin deferred sentencing Yates pending a pre-sentence investigation.

Spanish War Vet Back From Cuba

William Martin, 85-year-old Spanish American War veteran who served in the hospital corps with Teddy Roosevelt at San Juan Hill, proudly displays his war medal as he arrives at Miami International airport Friday. Martin and his wife were among the 98 Americans and Cubans that arrived by plane from Cuba. Martin urged the U.S. to invade the island and oust Castro.

CIVIL RIGHTS LAWYER ARRESTED

Greenwood, Miss. (AP) — A Civil Rights Commission staff lawyer reported Friday he was arrested for disobeying racial segregation rules at the bus depot.

Chester F. Relyea, 32, of Washington, said he was released without charge after 45 minutes in custody and politely driven to his hotel.

In Washington, Clyde Ferguson, commission general counsel, said formal complaints would be lodged with both the Justice Department and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Checking Complaints Relyea and another commission staff attorney have been in this area since Monday checking complaints of denial of equal protection.

Racial tension has been on the increase in Leflore County, with two recent bursts of gunfire aimed at cars carrying Negro workers in a voter registration drive.

Relyea said he was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Wilbur W.

Smith. The deputy was not available for comment. Sheriff John Ed Cothran said he wasn't familiar with the incident.

Didn't Know "I didn't even know it had happened until this morning," said Cothran. "I don't know any details on it."

Relyea said he arrived at the depot on a bus Thursday night and found Deputy Smith posted outside the station, directing whites to one door and Negroes to another.

The white attorney said he entered the Negro section despite Smith's directions and the deputy followed him inside. He described the encounter like this:

"The officer came up and said, 'Are you going to leave like I told you?' I said no. He said, 'Well, you're under arrest.' I showed him my identification but he said, 'That doesn't make any difference.' He took me to the office."

"He stepped out and made some telephone calls while I sat in his office. He finally came back and said he was going to release me. I pressed him as to what charge I had been arrested on. He said there were several he could hold me for but he wouldn't name the one he had in mind when I was arrested."

Bidault Determined To Lead Anti-Gaullist Forces

Steinebach, Germany. (AP) — Georges Bidault made it plain Friday: he would rather leave Germany than step down as a leader of the anti-Gaullist underground.

After 6 days of virtual house arrest and plenty of publicity, the 63-year-old former French premier remained a weighty problem for French-German relations. But no one seemed in very much of a hurry. West German authorities warned Bidault would not be granted asylum here unless he agrees to drastic restriction of his political activities, including a permanent police escort. One of the main aims in life for the French Secret

Army Organization in which Bidault is a leader is to eliminate President De Gaulle.

But a precise outline of asylum conditions will not be given Bidault for another week, Bavarian Interior Minister Heinrich Junker said. If Bidault doesn't like the terms he may appeal to German courts, possibly starting a protracted legal squabble over his rights as a "political" refugee.

"I will certainly not trade political activity for security," Bidault said in an interview. "I am the leader of the National Resistance Council. I am the boss of it all."

"There are comfortable and uncomfortable decisions but one has to do one's duty," he replied when asked what he planned to do if he is not permitted to continue political activity from Germany. "I am certainly not tired."

"I always have my eyes set on the just cause, even if this leads me to the end of the world."

The Bavarian interior minister said that even if he is granted asylum, Bidault might face expulsion if his stay ran counter to "important state political matters." The minister said, for example, that this was possible if Bidault proved too great a strain on French-German relations.

Smathers Calls For 'Patriotism'

Washington (AP) — Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., called Friday for Republican critics of administration Cuban policy to rally around President Kennedy and "put patriotism before partisanship."

In a Senate speech, Smathers invited critics to advance "sensible and tangible solutions" and "if some feel that the only course is to declare war on Cuba, let them come forth with their resolutions."

Smathers renewed his own previously advanced proposal that the United States recognize a Cuban government in exile.

He said the answer to arguments that various Cuban factions could not agree on a leader for their government would be to conduct a poll under which all Cuban exiles could voice a preference in selection of the leader.

The U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service has a list of names and addresses of every exile in this country and Puerto Rico, Smathers said, and added:

"It would be relatively easy to carry out a poll by mail — similar to our absentee balloting system — which, in my opinion would provide the most democratic method possible of determining who should head an exile government."

Smathers said such a government would provide a rallying point for freedom-loving Cubans, a central body to which they could direct their efforts and which would speak in the name of all.

In the meantime, he said, Kennedy should be "permitted without harassment or personal attack to conduct our Cuban policy."

He termed Kennedy's pressure for removal of Soviet troops from Cuba "the most useful course of action that can be followed at this time looking toward the total solution of the Cuban problem."

Country Club Is Used As Obstacle Course

Unknown persons used the Lincoln Country Club, 3100 So. 24th, as an obstacle course early Friday morning, when two electric golf carts were stolen from the quonset hut at the north end of the golf course and taken for a joyride. Police reported damage to both carts as a result of collisions with trees. There was no damage to the course, police said.

Two Policemen Killed Pursuing Young Robbers

Fairfield, Calif. (AP) — Two policemen were killed in pursuit of two fleeing gas station robbers near Fairfield late Friday.

Two teenagers were captured 15 miles away when they crashed a roadblock.

California highway patrolman Charles H. Sorenson, 32, of Walnut Grove, the first to chase the youths at speeds up to 100 miles an hour, was shot and killed and his patrol car was taken.

Solano County Sheriff's Deputy Hale Humphrey was struck by the car at the roadblock 6 miles east of Fairfield and died at Intercommunity Hospital.

The youths were Jack Sikes, 16, and Richard Price, 18.

Arabs Agree To Establish Unified Nation

Cairo, (AP) — Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser and envoys from Iraq and Syria agreed Friday night after hours of negotiation to form a unified 3-power Arab nation, a reliable source reported. They then turned to details of a constitution, he added.

It was understood a communique will announce sweeping decisions after the final 3-power talks.

The new union would amount to a federation of the 3 Arab states, with each retaining its identity but under some form of central government with one chief executive.

Agreement was hammered out in marathon two-day talks totalling almost 15 hours. Although many details remain, it was stated reliably that a compromise solution largely incorporates the neutralist Arab socialist views of President Nasser.

Before the state becomes a reality it must be approved by plebiscite in Iraq, Syria and Egypt. However, this is regarded certain of success.

The source said a meeting scheduled for Saturday will be confined strictly to writing a communique. Though details of the so-called unionist state may remain to be worked out, the Cairo conference has agreed on the main principles.

Suburbia On Hop, Skip, Jump

EASTBOROUGH

So many names, so many faces, so many things to do in a place such as Suburbia! As usual, our Suburban residents are just as busy as the proverbial beavers.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Degenhardt and their family have been especially busy these days, for their youngest daughter, 10-month-old Carol, recently returned from the hospital, and even more recently, Mrs. Degenhardt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Richard, have been visiting their daughter and family.

Carol returned home last Friday after a 10-day stay at St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was recovering from the flu. Her grandparents arrived in Lincoln with their special get-well-wish on Saturday, and returned to their home in Miltonvale, Kan., on Sunday.

There will be cause for another kind of celebration soon at the Degenhardt home, for their youngest son, David, will be celebrating his second birthday on Monday. A family party is planned for the young man, and helping him celebrate will be his parents and sisters and brothers, Dannie, Joan, Alice, and, of course, Carol.

More busy people this week were Mr. and Mrs. Keith Erlewine, who have been entertaining, and are presently being entertained themselves.

On Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Erlewine's guest for the day and for dinner was Mr. Erlewine's brother, Gale Erlewine, of Grant. Mrs. Erlewine entertained on Friday when her luncheon guests were visitors from Scotts-bluff, Mrs. George Hiner and her daughter, Georgia.

Later that day, Mr. and Mrs. Erlewine drove to Central City where they now are visiting Mrs. Erlewine's parents, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Manning. They will be returning tomorrow.

A bridge hostess on Monday will be Mrs. William H. Smith, who is to entertain the regular members of her bridge group. These ladies, who compose the two tables of bridge players, meet each Monday, for their bridge game which is followed, of course, by a dessert.

A newcomer to East-borough this week is Master Timmy Roger Atyeo, the brand new son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren T. Atyeo, who was born on March 8.

Timmy was greeted upon his arrival home on Thursday by his brother, Tommy, 3½, and his grandmother, Mrs. Ed Rogers. Mrs. Rogers arrived in Lincoln on Wednesday, and will be here for about a week before returning to her home in Le-wisburg, Kan.

Timmy's paternal grand-parent is Mrs. Grace Atyeo of Plymouth, Ill.

MEADOW LANE

Bridge seems to constitute the greater portion of the news from Meadow Lane this week, for we have two neighborhood bridge gatherings to mention.

On Wednesday, Mrs. Donald Eckery was the neighborhood's bridge hostess, and her guests were the regular members of one of Meadow Lane's monthly bridge groups.

Guests for the evening of bridge and dessert were Mrs. Tom Worster, Mrs. Gary Moyer, Mrs. Keith Thompson, Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. John Faltermeier, Mrs. Walter Johnston, and Mrs. Gary Burk.

Mrs. C. Winston Hooker took her turn as hostess on Thursday evening when she entertained another neighborhood bridge group. This was one of the twice-monthly gathering for cards and dessert.

Guests at the Hooker home were Mrs. Robert Dillman, Mrs. Richard Michaels, Mrs. Ronald Hindman, Mrs. Hal Williamson, Mrs. William Zieg, Mrs. Dale Putman, and Mrs. John Meham.

Two birthdays were cause for a large family gathering at the Meadow Lane home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Fleck last Sunday as they entertained relatives in honor of birth date anniversaries of both of Mr. Fleck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Fleck.

Lincoln residents honoring Mr. and Mrs. Fleck were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Faimon and family and Mr.

and Mrs. Ernest Fleck and their children.

Coming from out of town for the celebration were Mr. and Mrs. Ron Porter and family of Nelson; Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Fleck and family of Edgar, and William Crestbach of Lawrence.

Helping their parents in their hosting role and wishing their grandparents the happiest of birthdays, of course, were the younger Flecks, Mike and Elizabeth.

A face that will be missing in the neighborhood for a short time is that of Maj. Merle McCunn, who left Lincoln last Wednesday for England where he will spend the next few days.

Maj. McCunn will be returning to the United States and Meadow Lane next Friday.

News Of The Service Circles

By TISSIE LINSCHIED

Capt. and Mrs. Roger Clemens entertained last Saturday evening at their Holdredge Street residence with a "pot luck" buffet dinner and bridge. The occasion was in farewell courtesy to Capt. and Mrs. Dave Bowersock.

Capt. Bowersock departed Lincoln Monday for Chanute AFB, Ill. After attending school for one month at Chanute the Captain will travel to Rapid City, S.D. for another month of training in the Missile program. Mrs. Bowersock and their two children will stay in Lincoln until June when they will travel to Vandenberg AFB, Calif. where the Captain will complete his last month of training. Their PCS will be Rapid City for the next three years and while there Capt. Bowersock will attain his Masters Degree. Guests enjoying the evening were Capt. and Mrs. Ronald Beckett and Capt. and Mrs. Winston Hooker.

Capt. and Mrs. Ralph Utech recently entertained at their Vance Rd. residence with a farewell canape party in honor of Capt. and Mrs. Roger Flanik. Capt. Flanik departed the later part of February for Williams AFB, Ariz. where he is undergoing pilot training. Mrs. Flanik is departing Lincoln today for Arizona with their new daughter Jennifer Lynn. Invited guests to say their farewells were Capt. and Mrs. William Barnicoat, Maj. and Mrs. Charles R. Watt, Maj. and Mrs. Robert Delaney, Capt. and Mrs. James Forgas, Capt. and Mrs. George Smith, Capt. and Mrs. Don Desselte and Lt. and Mrs. Odis G. Wehrly.

Mrs. Utech was again a hostess last Thursday when she entertained with Mrs. Robert Delaney, Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. James Forgas and Mrs. Odis Wehrly in the Terrace Room of the Officers Club with a punch party and baby shower for Mrs. Flanik. Invited guests for the delightful afternoon were Mrs. James Pumphord, Mrs. Alan Simpkins, Mrs. Charles Watt, Mrs. Dona Davis, Mrs. Carol Nelson, Mrs. Robert Walz, Mrs. Don Desselte, Mrs. George DeFazio, Mrs. Howard O. Evans, Mrs. Billie J. Myhand, Mrs. Frederick Tanner and Mrs. James R. McElvain.

Capt. and Mrs. Howard O. Evans were a host and hostess last Saturday evening when they entertained at their home residence with a canape party. Guests enjoying the evening were Capt. and Mrs. Benjamin Hill, Capt. and Mrs. Lloyd Timmons, Capt. and Mrs. Ralph Utech, Capt. and Mrs. James Moon and Capt. and Mrs. John Fenimore.

Mrs. Robert Ace entertained last Saturday evening with a "pot luck" dinner and two tables of bridge. Invited ladies were Mrs. James Kent, Mrs. Don Hall, Mrs. Robert Kelly, Mrs. Wallace Mitchell, Mrs. Don Johnson, Mrs. Adam Mizinski and Mrs. Stanley States.

Mrs. Ace was a hostess again last Wednesday evening when she had a dessert duplicate bridge party. The guest list included Mrs. Guy Ward, Mrs. John Fenimore, Mrs. Donald Lueningberg, Mrs. William Barnicoat, Mrs. Hal Hampton, Mrs. Rex White and Mrs. Archie Anz. Mrs. Robert Hansen was a hostess Monday evening when she had a birthday bridge party in honor of Mrs. John Terry. (Mrs. Terry was 21 again!) Enjoying the momentous occasion were Mrs. Edward Cadger, Mrs. Earl Holcomb, Mrs. George Miller, Mrs. John Gallagher, Mrs. Robert Jacobson, Mrs. C. C. Dupree, Mrs. James Evans, Mrs. J. B. Herbert, Mrs. Bernie Johnson and Mrs. Hal Hampton. Walking off with the prizes were Mrs. Jacobson, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Hampton.

Mrs. Frederick Langille recently entertained her bridge group with a lovely luncheon at her Walker Drive residence. Ladies enjoying the afternoon were Mrs. Herbert O. Hamilton, Mrs. Gerald Linscheid, Mrs. Harold C. Morrison, Mrs. Myron Piggett, Mrs. Russell Heller, Mrs. Raymond J. Wagner, Mrs. Richard McKenzie and Mrs. William Hathaway. Winning the lovely plants that were given as prizes were Mrs. Wagner, Mrs. Morrison and Mrs. Hathaway.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Gerald Linscheid had houseguests last weekend. It was a delightful reunion after 33 long years when Prof. and Mrs. Stewart Linscheid, the Colonel's cousin, motored to LAFB from Peru. Its good to know such nice cousins are floating around!

Democratic Club Elects

Mrs. Hayriett Coble was elected president of the Lancaster County Democratic Women's Club at the organization's meeting Tuesday evening.

Other officers will be Miss B. J. Holcomb, vice president and program chairman; Miss Imogene Moore, secretary; and Miss Loretta House, treasurer.

Chairmen named were Miss Betty Meisinger, nominating and research; Miss Jackie Snyder, hospitality; Miss Nola Obermeier, membership; and Miss Dorene Bouc, publicity.

The first in a club-sponsored series of "Open Facts Forums" was presented by Senator Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, who spoke in behalf of his income tax bill, and Dr. Everett Peterson, University of Nebraska agricultural economist, who discussed the background of the income tax.

Dear Abby

A Bad Choice In Confidants

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Who in the world can a person trust anymore? Our preacher sat right in our living room and told all the details of some domestic trouble another couple was having. He knew full well these people were friends of ours. Then I found out that my doctor discussed my case with my aunt without any inquiry on her part—she says. Yesterday a friend of mine told her daughter something I had told her in confidence just to get it off my chest. Heaven help me if I ever need a lawyer. I hear they are the biggest gossips of all. I repeat—who can a person trust?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: MOST clergymen can keep a secret. And so can most doctors. But professional people under obligation to keep confidences, occasionally talk too much. If your confidences are always revealed, perhaps you are prone to pick the wrong confidants.

DEAR ABBY: Can you please tell me why women are so touchy about telling their right age?

BEATS ME

DEAR BEATS ME: Beats ME, too. When a girl is young (around 14 or 15) the nicest compliment you can pay her is to say she appears to be about 19. When she reaches about 50, if you tell her she looks 35 you are apt to get smothered with kisses.

DEAR ABBY: A boy called me at 12:30 at night and woke up my father. My father got real angry and told him if he didn't have any better sense than to call at that hour he should never call me again. The boy said he'd "think" about it. You can imagine how much angrier my father got after that. The next day my father told me about what happened and he said I was not to answer any more telephone calls from boys until next year when I'll be in the Ninth Grade. This is the first time anything like this has ever happened to me. Do you think my father is being fair?

DEAR PUNISHED: Your father was understandably

Opening lead — queen of hearts.

Bridge is not exactly like ticktacktoe, where, if you make the right play all the time, you can't lose. There are many situations in bridge where all you can do is take what looks like the best shot and hope it comes out all right.

Take this hand. After three passes you open with a spade, which West doubles. East responds with two clubs and you double for takeout to tell partner you have a good hand.

This apparently doesn't raise North's spirits too much because all he does is respond two diamonds. Now you've got to make a decision of your own. You can jump to three spades if you want to and thus identify a very promising hand, but this bid is not forcing and partner may pass if he is so inclined.

Let's say that as a practical matter you bid four, even though you lack full values for the bid, because you think there are many hands North could have with which he would pass and which might still provide a good play for ten tricks.

West leads a heart and when dummy comes down you're glad you jumped to four. The probable losers are a spade, a diamond and a club. You take the heart with the ace and play the king of spades, East winning with the ace as West drops the nine.

Of course, you thought, West would probably have the ace, in view of his double, but in a sense you're pleased to learn East has it. This is because your side is missing only 16 high-card points and now you know that West has, at most, 12 (intermediate-type) points.

This indicates that West's double was based in part on distribution, and he is almost sure to have started with a singleton spade. Therefore, whatever East returns, you enter dummy with a diamond, lead a spade, and finesse the eight. The finesse succeeds and you have a right to congratulate yourself on fine card-reading.

First Week Of April Set For Income Tax Debate

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Key legislators Friday tentatively agreed to press for a full-scale floor debate of the state income tax bill the first week in April.

Most likely target date is April 2.

Revenue Committee Chairman Jules Burbach of Crofton will report the measure, LB612, to the floor in the next few days.

The tentative script then calls for Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud to ask the Legislature to set a date for the debate.

When that date comes, the debate is scheduled to revolve about a motion to kill which will be offered by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff.

If the motion prevails, the key tax issue of the 1963 session will be settled before Easter recess.

If the bill survives its first floor test, a host of amendments will be proposed, it was learned.

Explore Areas

Burbach listed a few which he "would like to see explored," among them taxation of corporate income and exemptions for children.

Present exemptions for bonds and bond income, and the apparent removal of any tax liability for non-resident landowners and non-resident wage-earners should also be examined, he said.

"I personally would like to see these 4 areas considered," Burbach said.

Change Rate

Burbach said he also anticipates that an amendment to change the flat rate to a progressive scale will be offered on the floor.

Other senators look for consideration of withholding provisions.

Bowen said he is "ready to discuss it anytime the Legislature is read." First, however, he wants the attorney general's office to "look it over."

Want Fairness

All proposed amendments should be "carefully considered on the floor," Bowen said.

"When we pass this bill, we want it to be as fair and as equitable as possible."

Bowen said the reason his proposal does not include a tax on corporate income is that "corporations are really just people banding together."

A corporation tax would "really be paid by consumers, stockholders and employees through higher prices, lower dividends and lower salaries," he declared.

"Corporations don't pay it; they shift it."

Iowa Elevator Operator Given 5-Year Probation

Sioux City, Iowa (AP) — Allen T. North, operator of a grain elevator at Vail in northwest Iowa, was at liberty on 5 years probation with orders that he make restitution for government-owned corn he put to his own use.

The period of probation and the conditions attached to it were fixed in U.S. District Court by Federal Judge William C. Hanson.

North, 38 previously had pleaded guilty but resumed operation of his elevator under $100,000 bond.

Judge Hanson made no finding on the amount North owes the government but left that to future determination.

Government attorneys said he converted 96,000 bushels of Commodity Credit Corp. stored in his elevator.

The Agriculture Department estimated the value of the corn at about $100,000 and in addition has filed a civil claim of $42,000 against North on sureties.

14 Lakes To Be Built

State Engineer John Hosack Friday announced that 14 new lakes will be created along the Interstate Highway between Cozad and Kearney.

The creation of the lakes represents the continuation of a Highway Department policy of long-standing, the state engineer said. He said that one department veteran of 40 years remembers building lakes when he first started highway work.

Hosack added that many lakes recently have been improved by the State Game, Forestation and Parks Commission into attractive rest areas, parks and fishing lakes.

Bids will be taken March 28 on the work between Cozad and Lexington. Construction has already begun on the Lexington to Kearney segment where 10 lakes are to be located. Two of these, near Elm Creek, are now being improved by the Game Commission.

Four new lakes between Lexington and Cozad may be improved, he said. Two are on school land and two on public lands.

Land Annexation Bill Gets First Round OK

A bill designed to facilitate annexations by the state's 22 first class cities won 24-12 first round approval after considerable buffeting and debate in the State Legislature Friday.

The measure, LB338, was introduced by Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion, but Payne objected strenuously to an amendment tacked onto the measure Friday and got unanimous consent to withdraw his name as the bill's introducer.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, meanwhile, had asked that his name be placed on the bill, with the result the measure became the 86th of the session listing Carpenter as principal introducer.

As drawn, LB338 was designed to give first class cities—those of more than 5,000 population but excluding Omaha and Lincoln—the same annexation procedures and prerogatives as are enjoyed by Omaha and Lincoln.

The amendment objectionable to Payne was introduced by Sen. Elvin Adamson of Nenzel, who feared that the original measure went too far in taking away the rights of individuals affected by annexation to object and have their day in court.

Burden of Proof

Basically, the Adamson amendment placed the burden of proof on the city to establish that an annexation is legal if any affected property owner carries the case to court.

In original form, the bill provided for injunctive relief. Sen. Payne contended the Adamson amendment would throw first class cities "back into the same muddle they are now" and create "a lawyer's paradise."

The Adamson amendment was approved 20-18 and Sen.

Payne promptly moved to kill the bill, but the kill motion lost 14-23.

Several senators representing first class cities took the floor in general agreement that present annexation procedures for first class cities are hampering orderly growth.

Sen. T. C. Reeves of Central City suggested that "no city in the state is more seriously affected by annexation problems than Grand Island," but said he thought the amended bill would make a contribution to healthy municipal growth.

Fears Voiced

School representatives earlier had voiced fears that the bill would have some significant effects on school districts in the environs of first class cities, but Sen. Carpenter had stillled these fears by offering to seek the introduction of a separate bill specifically related to the school district problems if those involved come up with such a proposal.

Other bills advanced from general file Friday as the Legislature rounded out its 11th lawmaking week included:

LB35—Increasing from 65 to 70 the maximum age of judges and clerks of election in counties outside of Douglas and Lancaster.

LB299—Waiving the bonding requirement for an acting county judge serving in one matter only.

The bill to increase the maximum age for election judges and clerks provoked considerable discussion. An amendment proposed by the Judiciary Committee and adopted earlier would have left the matter of age to the county clerk, but Sen. Eric Rasmussen of Fairmont succeeded in getting the amendment reconsidered and on the second go-around it was rejected.

Prep, Tech Slated For Final Contest

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer

There's no next time for the state's top two high school basketball teams.

Omaha Tech and Creighton Prep will meet tonight at the Nebraska Coliseum for the Class A State Tourney Championship.

They've met 3 times already this year but none of their meetings have carried the importance of the big trophy which awaits tonight's victor.

Tech has beaten the Junior Jays twice in the 3 meetings and, based solely on Friday's semifinal play, the Trojans of coach Neal Mosser would have to be the favorite in the showdown contest.

The Trojans, getting a crowd-pleasing 35-point performance from Fred Hare, rolled away from Columbus, the last of the outstate hopes in a year that had no teams outside of Omaha in the class of Tech and Prep.

Tech was an 83-54 victor, the winning total the best team offense since the state tourney returned to 4 classes in 1960. Hare's 35 points and 16 field goals also fell into this 4-year record bracket, topping the 33 and 15 FGs by Prep's Wally Anderzunas Thursday night.

Prep bumped Omaha City rival Omaha Central 62-50 in the windup semifinal game viewed by some 10,000 fans. They quit selling tickets for this double-bill long before Hare and Co. took their first shot.

The Trojans, who lost to Lincoln Northeast in a controversial championship game a year ago, will be seeking their first title since 1926.

Prep hasn't won since 1945. Hare was slow starting,

1963-64 Husker Cage Slate Has Two From Big 10

Nebraska's 1963-64 cagers will face a tough non-conference schedule, including two Big 10 teams.

The Huskers will open the season with a home contest against Wyoming, Dec. 2. Other non-conference foes include Texas Tech, Houston and Oklahoma City on the Coliseum floor and Michigan, Purdue and Southern California (two games) on the road.

The 1963-64 schedule:
Dec. 2, Wyoming; 6, at Michigan; 7, at Purdue; 9, Texas Tech; 14, Houston; 20, at Southern California; 21, at Southern California; 26-30, Big 8 at Kansas City, Mo.; Jan. 6, at Iowa State; 11, Missouri; 14, at Kansas; 18, Oklahoma City; Feb. 1, at Missouri; 3, Kansas State; 8, Oklahoma; 10, Oklahoma State; 15, Colorado; 17, at Kansas State; 22, Iowa State; 24, Kansas; 28, Oklahoma State; March 2, at Oklahoma; 9, at Colorado.

rating second in the Tech box score at the half which read 36-27 Tech.

But the 6-1 master of the roundball peppered through 11 fielders and two charity shots in the last half to leave Columbus far behind.

The Discoverers actually played well. However, there wasn't any stopping Tech Friday as Joe Williams hit 21 and Jerry Mosser, the coach's son, flipped in 17.

Mosser's 13 first half points kept Columbus from holding a lead it relinquished with nearly 5 minutes left in the half.

All 5 Columbus starters reached double figures in scoring but Gayle Cattau's best of 13 wasn't any match for the explosive Trojans.

The Coliseum buzzed in anticipation that Anderzunas, playing right after Hare, might regain the point leadership.

There was not an effort by Prep or by Anderzunas to get into a personal duel with a state championship so close at stake, however.

Anderzunas continued his fine play, contributing 21 points to lead Prep but also adding valuable assists as Central was a problem.

PREP PICKER HITS 8 OF 8

Prep Sports Writer Conde Sargent slipped through Friday's semifinal games at the State Tournament without a miss in the 8 games.

Sargent selections have been wrong just once in the 24 games over the two days.

For the championships in each class, the choices are Creighton Prep, Minden, Utica, and Herman. All but Minden were Sargent's pre-tourney choices. Minden dumped Class B nominee Ogallala Friday.

Falls City, Minden Move To 'B' Final

... PIERCE, OGALLALA BUMPED

By DON SUMMERSIDE
Star Sports Writer

Minden's balanced scoring attack and the one-two punch of Falls City came to grips tonight in the finals of the 1963 Class B State Basketball Championship. Tipoff time is 7:05 p.m. at the University of Nebraska Coliseum.

The Whippets shook off a 7-point halftime deficit with 41 points in the last two quarters and eliminated highly touted Ogallala, 60-55.

Benny Maze and Ernie Strasil propelled Falls City past Pierce, 64-55, in the second semifinal tilt Friday evening at Pershing Auditorium. Maze meshed 25 points—tying Pierce's nifty Larry Hoefener for scoring honors—and Strasil added 23 markers with his high-arching specialties.

Falls City sports a 19-2 record moving into its final clash and Minden has a 17-3 mark.

Falls City 64, Pierce 55
Ernie Strasil's long distance casts provided the shock that left Pierce in too deep a hole from which to escape.

The 6-2 junior hit his first 4 attempts as the Tigers roared past a cold shooting Pierce, 20-7, after the first quarter.

Then the second half of the double-barreled Tiger attack — Benny Maze — caught fire in the second period and Pierce found itself down by 16 points, 33-17, at intermission.

Pierce was unwilling to call it quits however. The Bluejays shifted their ace, Larry Hoefener, into the post and made a valiant comeback effort.

Pierce's closest margin was 5 points at the 3rd-quarter stop, 41-36.

Maze and Strasil then combined to outshoot the 6-2 Hoefener, 19-15 in the last period. The Tigers made good use of the one-and-one free throw situation to gain their final 9-point advantage.

Minden 60, Ogallala 55

The Whippets repeated their Thursday night performance by staging a blistering second-half offensive. Minden dropped in 41 points in the last two quarters to gain the surprise win.

The Whippets, who never led in the game until the 3rd quarter, trailed by 26-19 at halftime. Poor Minden passing was the main factor in Ogallala's edge.

A 3rd-quarter press rattled Ogallala and Minden pulled into a 41-41 tie with 3:36 remaining on a pair of free throws by Larry Wilcox.

A 4-point play followed by a fast break seconds later broke the game open in the last period. Roy Nelson, reserve Minden center, tipped in the second attempt on a 1-and-1 and was fouled with 5:53 left. He added the charity toss to make it 59-43 for the Whippets.

Moments later Jim Carney grabbed a rebound at the Ogallala basket and raced down all alone for the two pointer that gave Minden a clinching 8-point margin.

Bryant, Butts Cited By Post

... DENIALS ISSUED

Birmingham, Ala. (AP)—The Saturday Evening Post says in its forthcoming issue that former University of Georgia athletic director Wally Butts and Alabama football coach Paul (Bear) Bryant rigged a football game last fall. Both Butts and Bryant issued immediate denials.

"Before the University of Georgia played the University of Alabama Sept. 22," the Post article says, "Butts gave Bryant Georgia's plays, defensive patterns and all the significant secrets Georgia's football team possessed."

Alabama won the game 35-0. The Post said that various betting lines showed Alabama favored by 14 to 17 points.

Bryant appeared at a news conference with his lawyers in Birmingham Friday and issued a statement saying that at no time "has Mr. Butts said anything to me which helped or affected the play of the Alabama football team against Georgia. The Alabama players won the game last fall. The charge against Mr. Butts of collusion in the game is completely false."

Bryant said he had turned the matter over to his attorneys.

Butts issued a statement in Atlanta in which he said the Post article "contains highly insulting and utterly false charges against me."

"I categorically and emphatically deny them," Butts said. He also said he was turning the matter over to his attorneys.

Butts, 57, was at Georgia 24 years and was head football coach as well as athletic director until 1961. He resigned as athletic director last month for personal and business reasons.

Bryant built football powerhouses at Maryland, Kentucky and Texas A&M before taking the Alabama reins in 1958.

The Post article was written by Frank Graham, Jr., and is entitled "The Story of A College Football Fix."

The Post quoted an Atlanta insurance salesman, George Burnett, as saying he was connected accidentally into a telephone conversation between Butts and Bryant on Sept. 14 — 8 days before the Georgia-Alabama game in Birmingham.

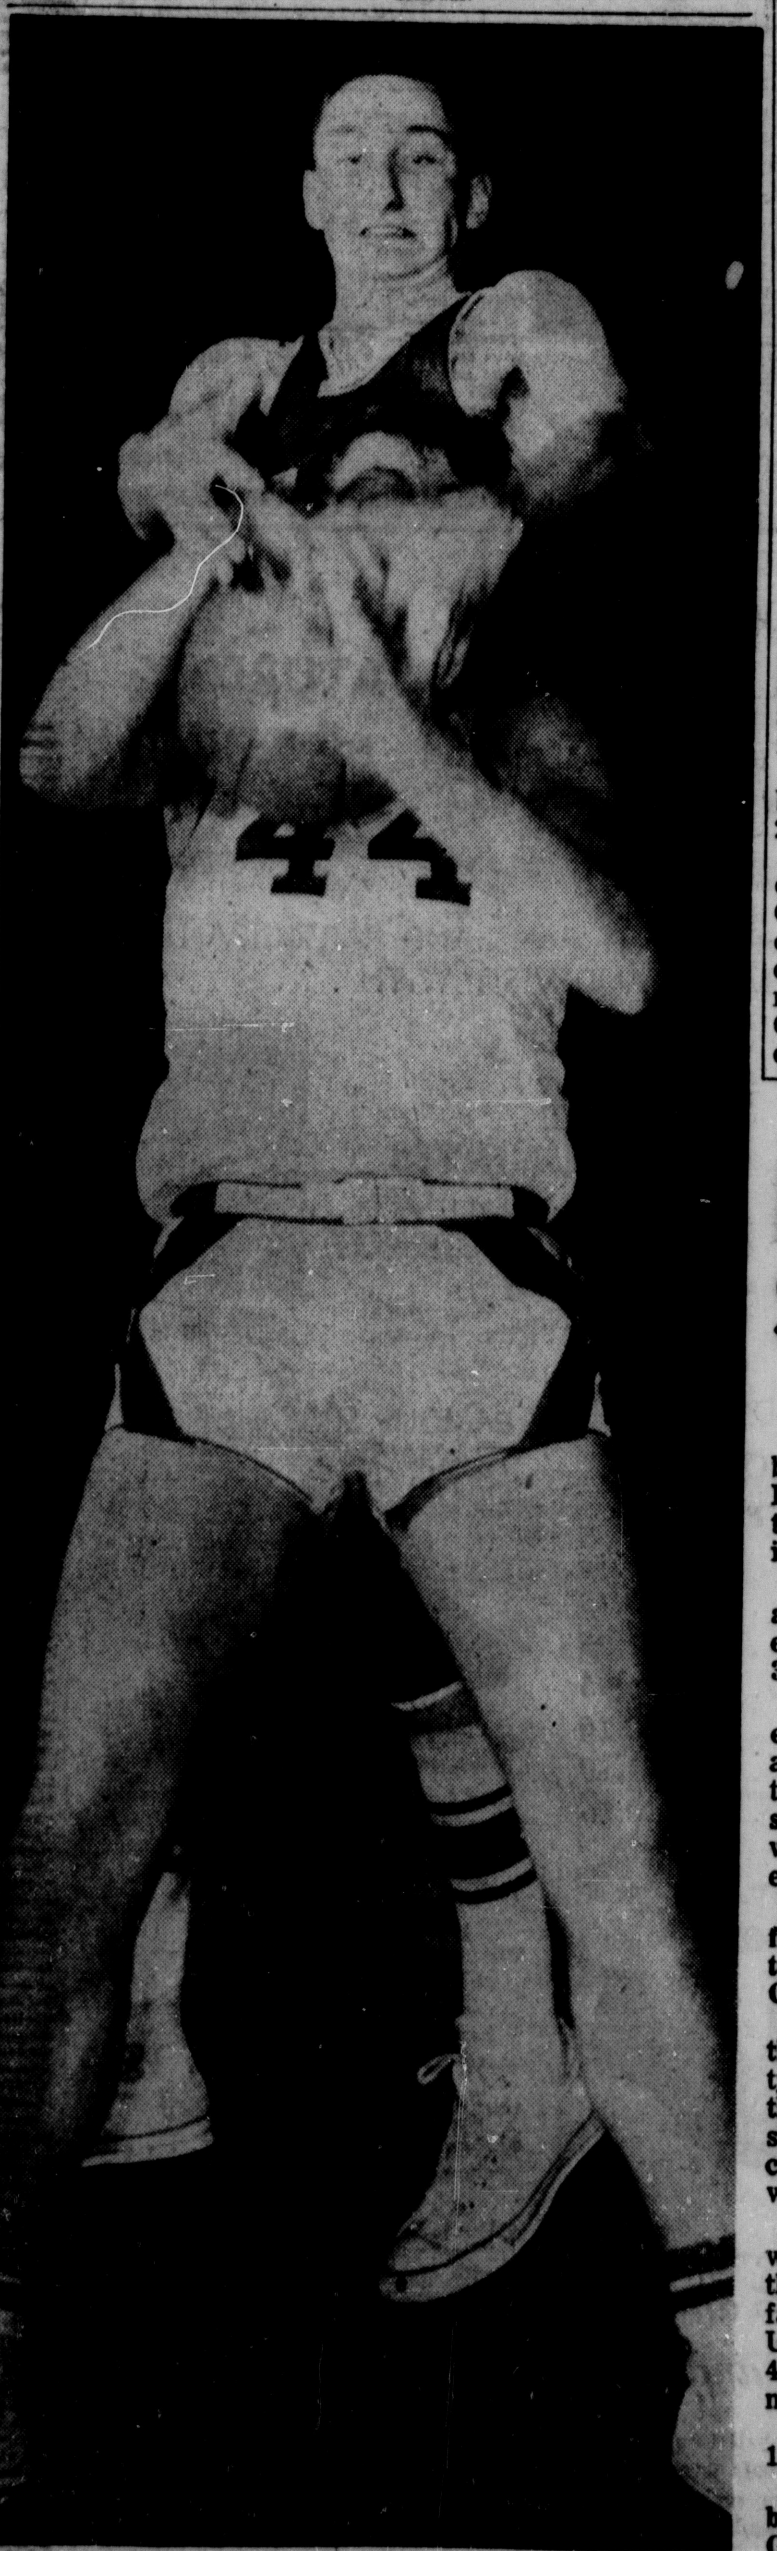

Burnett told the Post he heard Butts give Bryant detailed information on the Georgia team's offense and defensive patterns.

After the season ended, Burnett told his story to Johnny Griffith, who succeeded Butts as head coach at Georgia.

Griffith told the Associated Press: "All I can say now

FIFTH FOUL . . . Gibbon's Kurt Lauer (top) picks up 5th foul.

—UTICA ROMPS PAST TECUMSEH—

Lauer Leaves Early; Gibbon Still Wins In 'C' Semifinal

By CONDE SARGENT
Prep Sports Writer

"We're done," said a Gibbon rooster when scoring star Kurt Lauer fouled out before the half in their Class C semifinals game with Scribner.

"They'll never do it now," added a neutral observer even though Gibbon held a 31-22 lead at the half.

But Gibbon did what everyone assumed was an impossibility—won a state tourney game without the services of the 6-7 Lauer, who packs a 29.5 scoring average.

It wasn't easy but the Bufaloes pulled out a 58-54 victory over Scribner at NU's Coliseum.

While it was free throws that paved the way for a shot at the Class C Title because Scribner's entire team was guilty of over-guarding.

The opponent will be Utica, which reached this plane of the tourney last year before falling to champion Spencer. Utica bumped Tecumseh 60-49 in the opening C semifinal game Friday afternoon. They'll meet Saturday at 1:45 p.m. for the crown.

Senior Glen Skeen, a 5-9 ball-hawking nifty, drove Gibbon to victory.

His menacing drives at the basket earned him 20 free throws, 12 of which plopped through. Five fielders earned him game honors of 22 points.

Sophomores Rich Robinson and Don Kieper also played well under a second half thrust at victory by Scribner.

In the 3rd quarter, Scribner lost 3 starters taller than 6-feet so that the side element was pretty well evened up for the final period.

Scribner blitzed in 24 points in the 3rd quarter to take a 46-43 lead. Gibbon missed 5 free throws—all in a row under the one-and-one rule—to permit the hustling Scribner a short-lived lead.

Skeen and Robinson delivered field goals to start the final period and Gibbon was back in business with a 49-48 lead.

They held it, cashing it at the free throw line to keep Scribner at a distance.

Gibbon hit 26 of 41 free throws. Lauer, who scored 46 points in the first round victory, couldn't keep from fouling.

His 3rd foul came at 3:59 in the first quarter and left Scribner with an 11-3 lead. No. 4 resulted at 5:00 left in the second quarter with Gibbon ahead by 11.

The game-ejecting personal occurred with 46 seconds left in the half and Gibbon riding a 31-20 lead. He was not benched with the foul load. He scored 13 points during his short tenure.

Scribner was led by 6-2½ Mike Lamberty, the only Scribner starter not to foul out. He scored 17 points.

Utica's victory wasn't as difficult. A cold Tecumseh spell in the second half and some good shooting by Utica junior Roger Elrod and John Hladky.

Elrod scored 17 points and Hladky 15 as the veteran Utica club recorded its 21 victory in 22 starts.

Tecumseh outlasted Utica — especially around the boards during the first half—but couldn't match the scoring punch.

Chuck Lacey and Gary Waring pepped the Tecumsehans to within 23-25 at the half. But coach LeRoy Zenttic's crew managed just 14 points after the intermission. Utica scored that many in the 3rd period alone.

Uninhibited Stuart Speaks Out

... SAYS PIRATES TRADED HIM TO SAVE MONEY

Scottsdale, Ariz. (AP)—Ask Dick Stuart where he thinks his old club, the Pittsburgh Pirates, will finish in the National League pennant race and he says bluntly: "Sixth ... at best 4th."

Ask the uninhibited Boston Red Sox first baseman to explain why the Pirates would want to trade him, along with shortstop Dick Groat and 3rd baseman Don Hoak, in almost back-to-back deals, Stuart unhesitatingly answers: "To save money."

"The Pirates are on an economy kick," the tall slugger explained. "I saw it coming last year when they attempted to save money on travel and hotels. We could have left Pittsburgh and flown into Houston that same night. But they wanted to save one day's hotel expenses and so we had to leave the next morning on a flight that made 5 or 6 stops and didn't get us to Houston until about 5 in the evening. We were so dog tired that we dropped 3 straight to Houston and then lost 5 more on the West Coast."

According to Stuart, the trading of Groat, Hoak and himself saved the Pirates about $75,000 in salaries.

"Groat and Hoak were making $40,000 apiece, and I was getting over $30,000," he said. "They can't be paying Don Schwall (obtained in exchange for Stuart) and Don Cardwell (for Groat) more than $15,000 apiece and Bob Bailey, the kid replacing Hoak, is probably getting about $8,000 or so aside from his bonus."

"I'm not criticizing the Pirates for trading me. They've got a pretty good young first baseman in Donn Clendenon and I can understand why they would trade Hoak. Don is getting along in years and they felt they had to make room for the kid Bailey."

"But how can they explain the Groat trade? It beats me. All they did was trade away a winning shortstop for a losing pitcher."

"Groat is the best hitting shortstop in the league. They say he has slowed up a step but when was he ever fast? He knows more about playing his position than anybody else and he's an ideal team player. He's got to be a big help to the Cardinals."

"Pittsburgh feels they got a real good pitcher in Cardwell. That could be, but he's got to prove it. Up to now he's been a losing pitcher."

FRIDAY'S EXHIBITION RESULTS

double drove in the winning run in Cincinnati's 2-1 victory over Philadelphia at Tampa. Back-to-back homers by Marv Breeding and Dick Phillips helped Washington come from behind for a 9-6 triumph over the Chicago White Sox at Pompano Beach.

All Boating Is Prohibited On 2 Lake Sites

The state Game Commission Friday unanimously adopted a regulation prohibiting any boating on Salt-Wahoo Lake sites 4 and 8 until boating facilities are completed and the lakes filled.

Lake 4 is near Sprague and 8 near Hickman, Neb.

Too, the commission voted to open to boating Center Lake near Bridgeport when a ramp and dock are completed.

The commission noted the 52-acre lake has been unproductive to fishermen.

Fishing Dispute To Be Aired

... GOVERNORS TO PARTICIPATE

Yankton, S.D. (UPI)—A fishing rights dispute which has resulted in a 3-month long battle of heated words between South Dakota and Nebraska sportsmen will come to a head here Saturday as governors of both states huddle with their respective game chiefs.

Both sides have expressed a willingness to talk peace and reach a border agreement over the tailwaters area below Gavins Point Dam on the Missouri River.

But one possible snag is the adamant "to-the-end" stand of Nebraska Game Commission Director M. O. Steen that the waters in question "are clearly in Nebraska."

Isn't Sure

Nebraska Gov. Frank B. Morrison said he isn't sure, but that he feels some type of gentleman's agreement can be worked out.

South Dakota Gov. Archie Gubbrud also has expressed hope that differences can be resolved through some kind of treaty.

South Dakota will be armed Saturday with authority to negotiate with Nebraska over the area due to the eleventh-hour passage of a bill setting up a border authority.

Nebraska has such authority.

The dispute erupted in late December when the Nebraska Game Commission voted to repeal a reciprocal fishing permit agreement with its northern neighbors.

Verbal Blasts

This action brought a bevy of verbal blasts from South Dakota sportsmen.

The reason the agreement was discontinued, the Nebraska Commission said, was that South Dakota bans non-residents from hunting migratory waterfowl and that Nebraska was losing revenue.

South Dakotans then said the prime fishing spot on the Missouri River—the Gavins Point Dam tailwaters—would not be affected.

But Steen countered they would, because, he said, they are completely in Nebraska. He has not budged from this stand.

South Dakotans then threatened court action to determine the boundary.

Earlier Agreement

At a meeting in Lincoln earlier this month between attorneys general of both states, it was agreed that a court action would prove too costly in terms of money and time.

A cooling off period was suggested and Saturday's meeting arranged.

Yankees End Exhibition Loss String With Win Over Twins

... SUB FOR MANTLE LEADS VICTORY

By The Associated Press

Jack Reed, the sub whose homer brought the Yankees victory in a 22-inning game last season at Detroit, helped the Yanks end their spring exhibition losing streak on Friday.

Subbing for Mickey Mantle in center field, Reed belted an 8th inning double and later scored the first run in the Yanks' 2-1 victory over Minnesota at Fort Lauderdale. Bobby Richardson scored the winning run later in the same inning as Hector Lopez grounded out.

It was the Yanks' first victory against an American League opponent and gave them an overall spring record of 2-5.

Marty Keough's 9th inning

double drove in the winning run in Cincinnati's 2-1 victory over Philadelphia at Tampa. Back-to-back homers by Marv Breeding and Dick Phillips helped Washington come from behind for a 9-6 triumph over the Chicago White Sox at Pompano Beach.

Paul Foytack pitched one-hit ball for 4 innings and hit a two-run homer to help Detroit defeat Milwaukee 5-4 at Lakeland.

Jim Fregosi drove in 4 runs as the Los Angeles Angels swamped San Francisco 18-2 at Phoenix.

In Friday's other games St. Louis ended a 3-game losing streak by beating Pittsburgh 6-4 at St. Petersburg, the Chicago Cubs outslugged Boston 12-1 at Scottsdale, Ariz. and Houston nipped Cleveland 8-7 at Apache Junction.

Coliseum Broom Crew Wages War On Debris

By DON BRYANT

Star Sports Editor

One of the most remarkable performances turned in during State Basketball Tournament time is the rapid-fire cleanup job given the University of Nebraska Coliseum between sessions.

As soon as the final buzzer is sounded, ending the afternoon's activity, the fans head for the exits — and custodial crews head for the debris.

John Dzerk, chief of the NU custodial department, dispatches an 18-man crew into the breach — and they hustle.

All in a period of two hours, the Coliseum is given a clean sweep — fore and aft, topside and below decks.

A portion of the crew attacks the balconies, while another takes on the main-floor area. Vacuum blowers are used to push the popcorn, paper, cups, peanut shells and a multitude of other debris to the back of the bleachers. From there it is picked up and hauled to waiting garbage trucks which in turn cart the tourney leftovers to the dump.

As might be expected, numerous articles of value are discovered during clean-up time.

"We had 157 large articles turned into lost and found Thursday," Dzerk reported Friday afternoon. "Among the articles were 54 purses — which were returned to their owners."

Anyway, when the night session fans file into the tidy Coliseum — which a couple of hours earlier was ankle deep in trash — they can thank Dzerk's NU crew who do a bang-up job.

So There, Ref!

With 4:25 left in the foul-plagued Scribner-Gibson game, a loud-voiced fan supplied the most humorous note of the afternoon Coliseum session.

Officials Earl Delafield and Ed LaBrosse of Omaha had been busy on the whistle — a total of 30 fouls were called on Scribner, which lost 4 starters via infractions, and 18 on Gibson, which lost ace Kurt Lauer in the first half — when something splattered on the court.

Time was called to wipe up the liquid and public address chief Ralph Beechner announced: "It's an official time out."

From somewhere in the crowd, which suddenly was hushed, came a voice, just a bit tinged with sarcasm: "They need it!"

Pop's Special

NU chef de concession L. F. (Pop) Klein has added a new item to go with his famous rolled sirloins (wrapped in buns, of course).

Maybe it's a salad course — raw carrots, and for only a nickel yet!

Big Day

NU's retiring sports information director John Bentley celebrated his 39th wedding anniversary Friday — skipping press activities at the State Tourney, of course.

"I guess I'll have to wait until after the tourney to dance the Anniversary Waltz," Bentley sighed.

Ideal Job

Orville Lenz is doing his best to push the sales of popcorn at the State Tourney.

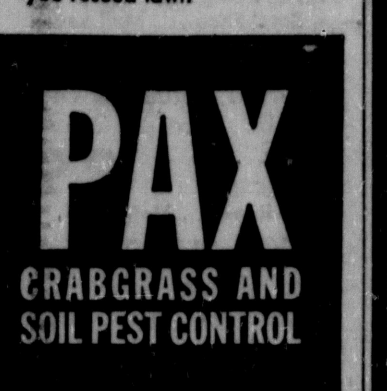

After all, Orville is the president of the Nebraska Feed Grain Growers Association — and lots of fans have been feeding on the feed grain he's been popping at the Coliseum.

Lenz, also past Nebraska president of the National Farm Organization and current legislative director of NFO, runs the big popcorn machine which supplies vendors.

SEEK FIRST THE KINGDOM

Have Faith In Your God

Gadgets or God

Scientific achievements of the world in recent years could very easily detract our minds from our Creator. Wonders of the laboratory have captured the adoration of all peoples. Lest we forget, and lest we start placing our dependance for livelihood in the marvels of science, let us take a second look. "For by him were all things created that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thorns, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by Him, and for Him: and He is before all things, and by Him all things consist." Col. 1:16, 17. Then let us stay with our true creator—let us serve Him. Let us attend and support His church.

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

Ministers and Rabbis of This Area and Sponsors of This Page Invite You To Share In the Worship Services of Your Church or Synagogue. Pray, Work and Live for God.

Stock Market
New York (N) - Steady demand for some high quality oils and other blue chips gave the stock market a slight rise Friday amidst continued irregularity and dull trading.

The market once again was resuming its familiar pattern of quiet caution with an undercurrent of buying by institutional investors.

The list displayed some uncertainty in early dealings but gradually firmed out to a high level of activity by mid-session. The advance was maintained despite a continued pattern of irregularity.

The Dow Jones industrial average gained 2.60 to 676.33.

The Associated Press average of 50 stocks rose 5 to 256.3 with industrials up 1.15 unchanged and utilities up .3.

Of 1,275 issues traded, 322 advanced and 953 declined. There was one new low, J. J. Newberry.

Volume was 3.42 million shares compared with 3.54 million Thursday.

Nine of the 15 most active stocks advanced, 5 declined, and one was unchanged.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.06 million shares compared with 1.04 million Thursday.

Grains Show Little Change
Chicago (N) - Except for a few spots of both strength and weakness, the grain futures market showed little change Friday in generally drabgy transactions on the Board of Trade.

Activity was almost entirely speculative and confined largely to spreading in which long positions in one contract or commodity are liquidated in favor of another.

At the close, wheat was 1/4 cent higher to 1/4 lower, March 2.08 1/4; corn 1/4 higher to 1/4 lower, March 1.16 1/4; oats 1/4 higher to 1/4 lower, March 73 1/4; soybeans 1/4 higher to 1/4 lower, March 12 1/4.

met by waiting police officers who had been tipped he was in the area.

Dye had served a month of a 4-year term for burglary when he walked out of the prison on a forged work pass with another inmate, William R. O'Kelley. O'Kelley was captured later in Denver.

A Federal Bureau of Investigation warrant charging unlawful flight was filed for Dye and local officers were warned he might be in the Inglewood area of Los Angeles County. The suspect was considered dangerous and described as usually carrying weapons.

Governor's Veto Upheld Again

A second effort to override Gov. Frank Morrison's veto of Legislative Resolution 4 failed by one vote Friday when Sens. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln and Harold Stryker of Rising City switched sides to uphold the governor's action.

Final count on the motion by Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff to reconsider the Legislature's earlier action in failing to override the governor was 25-17. Twenty-six votes are required to override.

The first effort—undertaken Thursday by Sen. Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City—fell two votes short. But 3 senators were absent when the initial count was taken.

All senators were present Friday when Carpenter made the motion to override.

Supporters of the resolution picked up the votes of two senators who had been absent the previous day, Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln and Matt Wylie of Elgin. That was just the number necessary to override the governor.

But Stryker and Mrs. Orme changed their Thursday vote.

26 Men Complete MIYA Session

Twenty-six men were graduated from the winter term of the Midwest Institute for Young Adults in ceremonies at the University of Nebraska.

It was the 4th graduating class since the MIYA program was instituted a year ago.

Graduating certificates were presented by Dr. K. O. Broady, director of the university's Extension division.

votes to nay — and the effort failed.

In the only other switch, Sen. T. C. Reeves of Central City, who voted to uphold the governor Thursday, lined up in favor of reconsideration.

Stryker told The Star he actually did not "switch" votes.

"My commitment," he said, "was to vote for the resolution. Had the motion to reconsider carried without my vote, then I would have voted to uphold the resolution."

Stryker said he voted against reconsideration "because there is no need of prolonging this debate."

Stryker is a Democrat.

Sen. Don McGinley of Ogallala, who was absent Thursday, joined opponents of the resolution in voting to uphold Morrison's actions.

Sen. F. O. Gottschalk of Columbus, who voted Thursday to uphold the governor, was recorded as not voting.

There was no debate on the issue.

Resolution 4 seeks a constitutional amendment which would allow the states to directly initiate amendments to the document. It was originally approved by the Legislature with 28 favorable votes.

Co-Ops Plan Dinner

Fairbury — The annual regional shareholders' dinner meeting of the Farmers Union Co-Operative Creameries of Nebraska will be held here March 23. Speakers will include Martin Byrne, president of the Kansas Farmers Union, and Elton Berck, president of the Nebraska organization.

Leach To Speak At FFA Conclave

Duane Leach, 20, national vice president of the Future Farmers of America, will be the featured speaker at the Nebraska state FFA convention here April 11-13.

About 2,000 Nebraska Future Farmers are expected to attend.

Two official delegates from each of the state's 130 local chapters will comprise the voting body to conduct the convention's business.

Leach is from Winnebago, Minn.

State FFA officers who will preside at the convention are: Lane Tederman, Gothenburg, president; Leroy Asher, Litchfield, vice president; David Knaak, Pierce, secretary; Lyle Nielsen, Creighton, treasurer; and Daniel Peterson, Holdrege, reporter.

Liquor Violations Bill Passed 42-0

Only the bill signature of Gov. Frank Morrison will be needed to make jail sentences mandatory for minors who use false or altered identification to buy liquor, and for adult procurers.

Nebraska's Legislature Friday passed 42-0 a measure, LB109, stiffening the penalties for both minors and adult procurers violating the liquor statutes.

Introduced by Sens. Marvin E. Stromer of Lincoln, Jules Burbach of Crofton and Matt Wylie of Elgin, LB109 calls for a jail term of 3 to 5 days and a fine of $100 to $250 for minors using false or altered identification to buy liquor.

For adult procurers a fine of $250 to $500 and imprisonment for 15 days are decreed.

If Gov. Morrison approves the bill, it will take effect July 1.

Other bills passed on final reading Friday (Emergency clause):

LB316 (Carpenter) — Making clear that the 7-cent gallon motor fuel tax applies to motor fuel purchased or consumed in Nebraska (43-0).

LB338 (Gerhart, Hasebroock, R. Rasmussen) — Increasing from 1 to 2% of the total assessed taxable valuation of a city the aggregate of bonds which may be issued for flood control. (32-0).

LB339 (Gordon, R. Rasmussen) — Prohibiting counties from entering into lease agreements for the rental of equipment if consideration for all lease agreements for the fiscal year exceeds three-tenths of one per cent of the total assessed valuation of the county except intangible property. (43-0).

LB350 (Reeves) — Adding sewage and storm water disposal to the utilities for which districts may be created either within or without the corporate limits of the governmental subdivisions created in them. (23-0).

LB445 (Bakutsky, Fleming, Carpenter) — Removing a time limitation on permits for gas tax refunds. (43-0).
